THIRD WORLD PRESS EDITOR TO SPEAK

Haki R. Madhubuti (Don L. Lee), editor of Third World Press and director of the Institute of Positive Education in Chicago, will be keynote speaker at the annual Black Student Organization dinner at Kalamazoo College on Feb. 8.

The event is open to the public; tickets are $15 and are available for purchase until Feb. 5. Advance paid reservations are required. For information and reservations, contact the Student Service Office at Kalamazoo College, 383-8492.

Madhubuti's books in print are in excess of one million; his most recently published book is Black Men, Obsolete, Single, Dangerous?, which offers practical suggestions to strengthen African American families. He also has published widely in magazines, quarterlies, and newspapers.

Recently, Madhubuti's work has been highlighted on the CBS program "Nightwatch," NPR's "All Things Considered," "The MacNeil Lehrer News Hour," as well as publications including the Chicago Tribune, New York Times, and The Washington Post.

Madhubuti earned his MFA from the University of Iowa and is a professor of English at Chicago State University.
