Kalamazoo College

Kalamazoo College is a private, coeducational, church-related, four-year, liberal arts college. Founded April 22, 1833, it is among the 100 oldest colleges and universities in the United States. Nearly all of the 1100 students are enrolled full time and live on campus, creating a greater sense of community.

The College has an excellent teaching faculty, most with doctorates in their fields. The student-faculty ratio of 14:1 affords small classes and personal attention to individual student needs.

Kalamazoo offers 23 majors and more than a dozen other areas of concentrated study. It is noted for particular strength in the sciences, preprofessional programs, economics and business administration, and foreign languages. The career development internship and foreign study programs are exceptional among all American colleges and universities. More than 80 percent of all Kalamazoo students participate in these off-campus experiences.

Students may elect to participate in a wide variety of co-curricular activities and student organizations. Sports include eight men's and seven women's varsity teams. The Kalamazoo College Hornets are members of the Michigan Intercollegiate Athletic Association (MIAA), founded in 1888, the nation's oldest collegiate athletic conference.

The campus is located in an attractive residential area only a few minutes from the thriving downtown business district. The city of Kalamazoo, the fifth largest metropolitan center in Michigan, provides a wide variety of cultural, social, and recreational opportunities. Midway between Chicago and Detroit on I-94, Kalamazoo is served by major bus lines, AMTRAK passenger rail service, and several commercial airlines.

1984-85 Team Outlook

The spring of 1985 promises to be an exciting one for the Hornet women's soccer team as it will again be competing with some of the top teams in the Midwest.

Despite the loss of four starters, including co-captains Bridget Flynn and Cindy Newhouse, the team will feature a strong corps of returning upperclassmen, supplemented by the most talented group of recruits in the program's history. Among those returning, Katie Pellegrom, Mary Kavanaugh, and top-scorer Elissa Mugianis will play key leadership roles in an exciting blend of new and returning players.

Entering its fourth season as the only varsity program for women in Michigan, Kalamazoo will again be competing against a number of Division I schools such as Bowling Green, Northwestern, and Notre Dame. Division III opponents will include St. Mary's, Wheaton, Calvin, and Spring Arbor.

The outlook for the next several seasons is particularly exciting. Completion of a new field for the women's program will enable a move to a fall schedule beginning in either 1985 or 1986, making the squad eligible for NCAA tournament consideration.

Returning Regulars

Theresa Burns — sophomore defender from South Bend, where she was an All-Area selection.

Terry Catlow — shifty senior midfielder; good in a crowd

Janette Foss — hustling defender from Okemos High School

Mary Kavanaugh — started in goal as a junior, will probably move into the back line in '85, from Cheboygan

Becky MacDonald — versatile defender, good tackler, also sees some MF action

Linda McPheron — deceptive forward from Grand Rapids, plays well on the wings

Elissa Mugianis — fast forward from Roeper, high scorer on '83-84 squad

Kathy Murray — returning after a year off, Kalamazoo Loy Norrix product, will be playing up front

Katie Pellegrom — speedster from Midland will probably move up from sweeper to MF for her junior year

Diane Sarotte — started at striker as a junior after being off sophomore year, good passer in the final third

Freshmen to Watch

Shelly Staszal — high-scoring All-State forward from Plymouth-Salem, should add some scoring punch

Cheryl Galindo — All-State defender from Livonia Stevenson, should follow in the footsteps of her successful brother, John, in "K" soccer

Sarah Wallman — All-State keeper as a junior at Plymouth-Salem, recorded eleven shutouts in her last two years

Marlene Preisz — co-captain and All-League on a strong Grosse Pointe North squad, should contribute in the midfield as a freshman

Ann Herrnstein — HB-FB from Ohio power Centerville, has been playing for ten years and should also contribute in her first season

Tracy Beecher — Greater Kalamazoo All-Star from Gull Lake, could crack varsity as a freshman
