

ASSISTANT COACHES

Kim Barrier McGuire, a former standout player at Western Michigan University, begins her second season as assistant coach of the Hornets. A former high school all-American and Indiana Miss Basketball, McGuire played for Jim Hess on the Western Michigan University women's basketball team and finished among the top 10 on Western's all-time scoring list.

Jeanne Hess will serve as an assistant coach to the women's basketball squad, while continuing to serve as Kalamazoo College's head volleyball coach. Hess also handles the administrative and recruiting duties associated with the sport. Hess holds a BA from the University of Michigan and an MA in exercise science from Western Michigan University.

HEAD COACH JIM HESS

The Kalamazoo College women's basketball team will be coached this season by the husband and wife team of Jim and Jeanne Hess. This unique situation arose from a desire and commitment to build a quality program, which demanded a full-time person on campus.

Now entering his second year as the head coach of the Hornet women's basketball team, Hess has a rich coaching background. For eight seasons (1982-90), he coached the Western Michigan University women's basketball team, leading the Broncos to the Mid-American Conference playoffs in his last six seasons. He was voted the Michigan Basketball Advisory Council Coach of the Year in 1985 when WMU won the MAC tournament.

Before coaching at WMU, Jim Hess enjoyed a successful nine-year (1973-82) stint at Gabriel Richard High School in Ann Arbor, Michigan. He led Gabriel Richard teams to state softball championships in 1979 and 1982, and directed the girls' basketball squad to state runner-up finishes in 1980 and 1981. He also guided the Gabriel Richard boys' basketball team for six seasons, leading the team to three district titles. In 1979 he was named the Detroit Catholic League Coach of the Year in boys' basketball.

Kalamazoo College is a private, four-year, coeducational college of liberal arts and sciences with 1,270 students from 40 states and 21 countries.

KALAMAZOO COLLEGE

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL 1992-93

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL OUTLOOK

With a combination of experience from returning upperclassmen and an influx of new talent, Kalamazoo expects to make a difference within the MIAA next year while improving upon the season's 5-18 overall record as well.

Leading the charge will be senior captain Lisa Vedmore, the league's fifth leading scorer with 15.3 points per game in 1992. Vedmore shot 84 percent from the free-throw line and led the team in assists.

Returning upperclass students Lesley Beebe, Amber Wujek, and Leigh White received substantial playing time last year and will add experience and maturity to the young roster. Beebe started at center and led the Hornets in field-goal percentage last winter.

The Hornets will work even harder this year to improve on last year's third-place MIAA ranking in defense. Jim Hess' coaching philosophy is that the best offense begins with great defense. Hard work in practice will help the Hornets continue their development in that area.

Head coach Jim Hess and his assistant coaches have been able to establish hard work as the norm, thereby creating a positive, "get it done" attitude during practices and games.

"We are building a reputation, and not resting on one," is the team's motto. The 1992-93 Hornets will build on their reputation of hard work and tough defense as they start the climb through the tough MIAA schedule.

Adding enthusiasm as well as skill to the returning letterwinners is an impressive roster of first-year students whose academic credentials are as outstanding as their athletic accomplishments. Several of these incoming students will be challenging the upperclassmen for
