Jan. 24th. 1859 Tuesday 4 o'clock.

Dear Sir,

Some of the best men of this state had arrived here to have a consultation, and after much discussion, the general sentiment is that the agent who spent the last two years in this state, is not the man to do the work. I therefore do not know what to do in the matter. I have visited the whole state and visited nearly all our institutions to inquire for some subscriptions. There is a large number for the state, and dollars subscribed to educational institutions, and the treasurers of the are all appreciated. To make the subscriptions for the collection of the state's aid the benefit can be allowed to help do any agent, but I anticipate some must be attended to punctually. In some one or it will be lost. I feel there is nothing gained at the college, out of which such subscriptions can be made.

The committee propose that I should obtain subscriptions and make collections for general purposes and for a lawyer. I am afraid that these two objects and especially the first are too indefinite. For general purposes, the benefit will be equal. What amount I answer. As soon as I say to the agent, or what? You see in my last report. That was the time I brought the figures of what twenty eight hundred.

The apparatus matters in a small one. Many of
It will be more correct to say the tone of the letters that I have written and the form in which they were written, that it was not my purpose to convey any impression of my present situation or to give any indication of what my future course of action might be. However, I believe that the public would benefit from knowing the truth about my situation.

I do not wish to enter into a debate about the subject of this letter, but wish merely to share my thoughts with you. I believe that the people of this country are capable of understanding the complexity of the situation and of making informed decisions. I hope that you will take these thoughts into account when considering your own position and the actions of others.
He has been informed from General Stoddard that there is a great deal of dissatisfaction in the congregation, and among the members of the New Church. Has been invited to attend a meeting of Days - 12th Inst.

Please close a letter to you, and will please to hand it to Mr. Inghill.

Nothing I hear from you, except I remain very affectionately your bro.

Sam Cozineau

P. S. Let me know in your next, whether I have understood Mr. Thompson's case or not.
