DAVID EASTERBROOK

David Easterbrook '69 majored in history, with a focus on African history, at Kalamazoo College. His study abroad program was in Kenya, and his internship and SIP were both at the Episcopal Mission Society in New York City.

David worked in the Mandelle and Upjohn libraries during his four years at K; he also worked with WJMD and did tutoring at an elementary school.

After graduating from K, David served in the Peace Corps in Kenya for two years, then studied African history at Syracuse University and library and information science at the State University of New York at Albany.

David has spent his career in large research libraries at Syracuse University, Indiana University, the University of Illinois at Chicago, and, for the last 21 years, at Northwestern University. There he serves as curator of the Melville J. Herskovits Library of African Studies, the world's largest separate library for the study of Africa.

David has participated in many inter-institutional cooperative efforts, as well as a broad range of grant-funded projects to enhance the collection of and access to research materials in African studies. He has served in a leadership capacity in the African Studies Association's Africana Librarians Council, the Center for Research Libraries' Cooperative Africana Microform Project, and the American Library Association. He was a Fulbright Scholar at the School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London.

David is a member of the National Peace Corps Association and the Chicago Area Peace Corps Association. He has served on Kalamazoo College's Alumni Association Executive Board for 12 years.

David met his partner, artist Richard Bough, at Syracuse University in 1975. In June 2011, they were among the first couples to receive civil union licenses when they became available in Illinois.
JOHN WICKSTROM

John Wickstrom taught in Kalamazoo College's Department of History from 1966 until he retired from full-time teaching in 2010.

After completing his undergraduate degree at Michigan State University, John studied classical antiquity and medieval history at Yale, where he earned an M.A. in 1963 and a Ph.D. in 1968.

At Kalamazoo College, John taught courses in the western Middle Ages, classical antiquity, and early modern history. He was chair of the history department from 1987 until 2007.

John's research for several decades has focused on monastic life and institutions, including the Humiliati, the Carthusians, and Cistercians. For several years, he has been looking specifically at early medieval Benedictine life, focusing on the late Carolingian cult of St. Maurus of Glastonbury.

He has written extensively in his field, including The Life and Miracles of Saint Maurus, published in 2008.

Since retiring from Kalamazoo, John has taught graduate seminars in the history department and Medieval Institute at Western Michigan University, and in WMU's new Monastic Studies Graduate Certificate program.

John is married to Elaine Larson Wickstrom '86. Their Boston terriers, St. Benedict and Theodora, are named after sixth-century medieval heroes.

John is also a member of the Torch Club and has taught at WMU's Lifelong Learning Academy. In addition to continuing to make contributions in his academic field in his retirement, John is pursuing his interest in computers.
GARY ALAN MORRISON '57

Gary Morrison '57 majored in economics and minors in speech/theatre and physical education at Kalamazoo College.

When he graduated, Gary was the leading basketball scorer at K, and he was named the most valuable player on the basketball team. He won seven varsity letters (three in basketball, two in baseball, and one in track), and he was named to the all-conference baseball team.

In addition to K sports, Gary's college activities included Century Forum, coaching a junior high school basketball team, theatre productions, the Bach Festival, and Century Showboat. One of his campus jobs, he remembers, was shoveling coal in the stokers.

Gary earned a master's degree in secondary school administration from Western Michigan University in 1965, and his career included both the classroom and the sports arenas.

After teaching and coaching in high school for eight years, Gary moved on to Oliver College, where he taught education, interdisciplinary studies, history, business law, money, and banking. He became the "winningest" coach in all sports at Oliver, garnering a history-making 21 MIAA championships: 17 in golf; three in basketball, and one in baseball. Gary is listed as a Coach of Distinction in the MIAA's 2012 Fact Finder, and he coached six NCAA All-Americans and nine scholar all-Americans.

Before retirement, Gary was actively involved in the Jaycees, the Rotary and Lions clubs, and the NCAA. He continues to be active in his church and several charities. He has secured a place in Halls of Fame at Battle Creek Lakeview High School, Oliver College, and the City of Battle Creek.

Gary and his wife Judith have been married 54 years. They have four children and 11 grandchildren.
ROGER KRAMER '61

Roger Kramer '61 majored in math and earned a teaching degree from Kalamazoo College.

After a stellar high school sports career at Portage (Mich.) Central High School, where he starred in football, track, basketball, and baseball, Roger brought his talents to K. At Kalamazoo College, he earned a total of 11 letters in football, basketball, and track; was on the football all-conference team two years; placed first in the MIAA in shot put and discus for two years; held the K record in the shot put, with a put of 43'11"; and held the K record in discus, with a throw of 135 feet.

After graduating from K, Roger played one year with the UFL Grand Rapids Shamrocks, during which the Shamrocks won the league championship and Roger was selected to the all-star team as a defensive lineman. After that, he played for nine years in the Canadian Football League, playing for teams in Montreal, Ottawa, and Calgary. Sports writers and coaches voted him onto the CFL all-star team in 1963 and 1964, and he played on the Western All-Star team in 1965. He also played in the Grey Cup Championship game in 1968 and 1970.

Roger's non-sports career was in business. He started with Statler Concrete and Supply in Kalamazoo and then, after relocating to Canada, he went to work for Revelstoke Building Materials, based in Calgary. After moving to Edmonton, Alberta, in 1973, he moved on to Steele Brothers Congregate and Aggregate.

In 1976, Roger started his own company, R. Kramer Holdings, an oil and gas investment firm. The next year, he started a coffee company, which ultimately became a major Canadian distributor. By the early 90s, Roger owned a half-dozen companies. In late 2011, moving toward retirement, he sold all but one.

Roger's wife died in 2004 and he remarried two years ago. He has two children and three grandchildren, and he still lives in Edmonton.
LYDIA RABURN MATHAS '02

Lydia Raburn Mathas '02 majored in economics, with an emphasis on business, and minored in political science at Kalamazoo College. Her study abroad program was in Madrid.

Lydia was a four-year starter on Kalamazoo's soccer team and was its captain for two years. During her freshman and sophomore years, the team won the MIAA and qualified for the NCAA tournament. Lydia was named to the All-MIAA second team as a sophomore and to its first team as a junior and senior. She was also named the MIAA’s Most Valuable Player her junior year and was on Verizon’s Academic All-American team her senior year. In 2002, she received the Mary Long Burch award, presented annually to an outstanding female member of the senior class who has both manifested interest in sports activities and excelled in scholarship.

While she was a K student, Lydia also tutored in economics, was a Young Life leader, coached the junior varsity soccer team at Kalamazoo Christian High School, and trained for and ran her first marathon.

After graduating from K with honors, Lydia studied law at the University of Michigan, again graduating with honors in 2005. She started her law career as an associate in the Chicago office of Latham and Watkins, an international law firm, where she focused on public company securities law, mergers, and acquisitions. In 2007 she took a position as in-house counsel for United Airlines, where her practice expanded over a 5-year period to include executive compensation and corporate governance. During her time at United, she played an integral role in advising the company’s senior management and board of directors with respect to the 2010 merger of United and Continental airlines. Lydia recently left United and took on a position in the legal department for Walgreens, again working to support senior management and the board of directors.

In 2007, Lydia married Kurt Mathas, a commercial litigator in the Chicago office of Winston & Strawn. Their son, Kamden, was born in 2010, and another son, Beckett, was just born on September 24.

Lydia's hobbies include running, cooking (with a focus on local, organic produce), and spending time at the family's cottage in Glenn, Michigan.
MEN'S BASKETBALL TEAM

In 1962 the Kalamazoo College men's basketball team completed one of the most successful seasons in Kalamazoo College history posting a record of 18 wins and 4 losses. The 1962 Hornet team was the MIAA champion and in the eyes of many of their loyal fans "the best show in town." It was an exciting time for the players, coaches, parents, loyal fans, and a very supportive student body that filled old Treadway Gym. A significant amount of school pride was created for K athletics because of the success of this team.

The Hornets had a good mix of seniors, juniors, and sophomores, and a strong defensive game was a key to their success as they could shut down the offense of many of their opponents.

Size was another key factor: Gordon Rodwan '62 was 6-7, Jon Lindenberg '62 was 6-5, and Dave Southworth '64 was 6-4.

At that point in time, there was not a three-point shot line. There would have likely been more points scored had that scoring option been in existence. The team had a lot of different starting combinations with different guys coming through for the team at different times.

Rodwan averaged 19.8 points and 12.7 rebounds per game that season. Lindenberg was team captain and regarded as one of the best defensive players in the league.

Rodwan and Lindenberg were first-team All-MIAA selections, while Bob Morgan '63 was honorable mention.

The team's only four losses came against Olivet, Hope, Elmhurst, and Anderson.

Only one Kalamazoo College men's basketball team has won an MIAA title since, and that was the 1966-1967 group that shared the crown. This team has the best winning percentage in the last 72 years and the longest winning streak in the last 86 years.

When this team was in action, it was a great time for K!

1963 HORNET FOOTBALL TEAM

The 1963 Football Team ranks among the best in Hornet football history. Since 1947, outside of the 1962 team, it is the only other team that has won an MIAA championship. In 1963, the Hornets shared the conference crown with Albion and Hope. K defeated Hope 21-14, but lost to Albion 25-14. Hope defeated Albion 21-6 thus forming the three-way tie for the league championship. The Hornets only other loss during the 1963 campaign came from MAC opponent, Eastern Michigan University. According to Coach Anderson, the decision was made to go for a win instead of a tie. The final score was 13-12 in favor of Eastern Michigan. Other impressive wins that season were over GLCA opponents Earlham (15-2) and Kenyon (71-20).

The 1963 team was honored with five of the team members being selected to the All-MIAA team. It should be noted that the Hornets made up one fourth of the 1963 MIAA All-Conference team. The honorees were Co-Captain Egdi Lode, Ed Lauermark, Co-Captain Bob Peters, Bob Phillips, and John Person.

Several Hornet football records were established in 1963. They include:
- Career rushing yardage—1,904—Ed Lauermark
- Season rushing yardage—916—Ed Lauermark
- Single game rushing yardage—271—Ed Lauermark
- Single game total offense yardage—271—Ed Lauermark
- Career pass receiving yardage—1,631—John Persons
- Career pass receptions—991—John Persons

1986 WOMEN'S TENNIS TEAM

The 1986 Women's Tennis Team was small in number of players, but huge in determination to improve their skills and have a championship season! The team not only succeeded in reaching their goal, but surpassed it! And, in spite of some health setbacks, emerged as one of the top three teams in the country among NCAA Division III colleges.

Kalamazoo College was the host of the Division III national tournament that year; so the team's success in the tournament was even sweeter on its home courts!

The team was the MIAA champion as well as third in the nation at the NCAA III Tournament. The team finished the season with an 11-6 overall record and 6-0 in the MIAA.

Team members included Catherine Bodurov, Elizabeth Blachut Doerr, Frances Kenworthy, Isabel Lange, Kate Marritt, Laura Pyle, Sara Zerweck Shorin, Linda Topolsky Simpson, Amie Tyler; Morgan Vis. The Coach was Tish Loveless.
1991 VOLLEYBALL TEAM

The characteristics of the 1991 Volleyball Team remain memorable to this day. Besides being very successful on the volleyball court, team members were successful in a myriad of other ways—especially as Kalamazoo College student-athletes. According to Coach Jeanne Hess they were always laughing, Coach Hess said, "They were a talented and fun group of women. The team was fun to coach, and fans were equally as entertained during contests when they joined in the fun."

The 1991 Volleyball Team was a group of women who came together and played the game of volleyball very well. They were relentless in their play and they never gave up in any match. The team dominated in the MIAA with a 12-0 record and was crowned the MIAA champion. They made an appearance in the NCAA III tournament and finished their season with an impressive 36-4 overall record.

Team members included Gretchen Newell Behmer, Rochelle Cameron, Gretchen Crumbaugh, Barbara Oelslager Hoag, Mei Zhang Juknelis, Mary Siwajek Klahorst, Nicole Frost Merchant, Karen Willms Murray, Christina Garry Ransbottom, Amy Schmidt-Stanek, Amy Walker, and Jennifer West Jawahir. Coaches were Head Coach Jeanne Hess and Assistant Coaches Anne Quartermaine and Teresa Knoechel.
