FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

KALAMAZOO, Mich. -- Dr. W. Haydn Ambrose, assistant to the president for church relations and director of financial aid at Kalamazoo College, is the author of a new book "The Church in the University."

Published by Judson Press in Pennsylvania, the book is based on the thesis, according to the author, that "instead of judging the university by the quantity of religion courses or extra curricular religious activities, the time has come for the church to know how to work within the structures of the university itself, calling that university to be true to its own heritage."

Dr. Ambrose was a campus minister at the University of Illinois for seven years and also served for five years as national director of campus ministry for the American Baptist Board of Education.

His book, said Dr. Ambrose, discusses "the role of the college chaplain as a Christian apologist, as a minister to the total academic community, and as a critic-prophet to both the church and the university." Included in the book is a description of new creative approaches to the ministry of the church within the university.

Dr. Ambrose, who joined Kalamazoo College last year, has written a number of articles and curriculum materials.
