ROLLA'S REWARD

LETTERS

SOMETHING GOOD AT ‘K’

To the editor:

The latest issue of K Magazine is a corker! The stories about the Good brothers and Lisa Cohen (August, 1981), thrilling and remarkable though they be, really do not surprise me. Even 60 years ago I had a strong notion that there is something moving at Kalamazoo College which is not equalled in any other. All that I have heard since confirms me in that opinion. People not only are stimulated at “K”; they are given direction.

The Goods reminded me of James Francis Duncan (’23), who came to college to study for the ministry. It was quickly apparent, however, that he was a mathematical genius — something his small-town teachers had no way of knowing. At the end of his junior year, his scientific accomplishment put him in a significant position at Dahlgren Field, an important Army ordnance laboratory.

Is there something at Kalamazoo that repeatedly (lately it seems consistently) discovers profound skills among the students that whirls them off into orbits like satellites from a planet? Maynard Owen Williams (’10), a mediocre student in Pat McEwan’s English classes, became foreign editor of National Geographic!

I cannot shake off the conviction, supported by personal knowledge, that Kalamazoo College is a growing experience that fosters growth in many, many of its readers the opportunity to air their views on the magazine, alumni activities, or the college in general. Address all letters to:

J. Mace Crandall (’26)
Berea, Kentucky

THANKS TO ALL

To the editor:

Via K Magazine, I would like to thank all of those former students of Dr. Kurt Kaufman who found it within both their hearts and wherewithal to contribute toward the Kaufman Scholarship Fund. It is certainly hoped that those of you that did not contribute yet would find an opportunity to send what you can.

These collective monies will be used to fund a scholarship within the chemistry department to support a deserving and needy student(s). It will be done in the manner so totally characteristic of Dr. Kaufman’s methods of teaching and student support.

There is very little more to say than the College and future chemistry students will suffer the loss of this great teaching talent. It is totally befitting that his name should be perpetually connected to the furthering of these students in the form of the Kaufman Scholarship.

Jim St. Clair (’63)
Glen Ellyn, Illinois

ID, PLEASE

To the editor:

The article “Womensports — revolution in progress” (April, 1981, K Magazine) had a picture of the women’s basketball team about 1915. I’m surprised you didn’t identify the girls. One of them is my mother, Ann Montefith Johnson (’15), of Penney Farms, Florida.

The picture with the article on men’s basketball (“Reminiscences,” August, 1981, K Magazine) was not Dick Lemmer (my brother-in-law).

Monty Bilkert (’48)
North Canton, Ohio

Editor’s note — Mr. Bilkert is correct. The photo on page 23 of the August, 1981, K Magazine, misidentified as Dick Lemmer, was actually Dan Ryan (’42).

THE SHOWBUSINESS BUG

To the editor:

I was so inspired by the recent edition of K Magazine that I felt compelled to write you in the hope that my name might appear in the “Alumni News” section of your outstanding journalistic endeavor.

Since graduating from “K,” I have taken several meaningful jobs, the most important of which is the position I currently hold as a trainer of midget dogs for “Cantankerous Clyde’s Carnival and Circus” in Bellingham, Washington. I also double as band leader and euphonium player extraordinaire. I hope to graduate to tse-tse flies in the coming season, inasmuch as the current tse-tse fly trainer is old and extremely feeble. This hasn’t stopped her in the past, however, and I would hate to mislead my old classmates into thinking that I was moving up in the circus world when, in fact, that opportunity might never come to pass. But we can never set our sights too high, can we?

I look forward to the next edition of K Magazine, because I am extremely conceited and love to see my name in print.

Duane W. Utech, Jr. (’78)
Bellingham, Washington

Editor’s note — It’s nice to see our grads are itching for new challenges.

Letters must be signed to be published, though we will withhold the writer’s name upon request. K Magazine reserves the right to edit letters for content and length, or reject any letter deemed unsuitable.

K Magazine
THE MAGAZINE OF KALAMAZOO COLLEGE

THE COVER
Rolla Anderson sits in the conference room overlooking the gymnasium of Anderson Athletic Center, which is named after—you guessed it. A preview of the new center and a review of Rolla's life are inside.

OFFICERS OF KALAMAZOO COLLEGE
George N. Rainsford
President
Warren L. Board
Provost
Alfred A. Blum, Jr.
Vice-president for Institutional Development
Wen Chao Chen
Vice-president for Community Services
Roger J. Fecher
Vice-president for Business and Finance
Robert N. Maust
Vice-president for Student Life

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION EXECUTIVE BOARD
Joanne Lent Hyames ('60)
President
Thomas W. Lambert ('63)
Vice-President
Kathe Perron Obrig ('71)
Secretary
Virginia Kibler Aldrich ('35)
Hon. Glenn S. Allen ('36)
Karla Lutz Atkinson ('56)
Alma Smith Crawford ('27)
Joseph S. Folz ('75)
Caroline Richardson Ham ('48)
Myra Ward Johnson ('72)
Thomas O. Johnson ('57)
James E. Miyagawa ('32)
Richard Obrig ('70)
James H. Pinkham ('48)
Harry S. Randall ('46)
Jane Meyer Rapley ('37)
David W. Stone ('76)
Laurence E. Strong ('36)
Richard D. Tedrow ('45)
J. Rodney Wilson ('60)

FEATURES
4 A big hand for Rolla
8 Out with the old, in with the new
10 How to live like a millionaire, without being one!

DEPARTMENTS
2 Letters
12 Sports at the College
14 News of the College
15 Class notes
16 Alumni news

Kalamazoo College is committed to the concept of equal rights, equal opportunities, and equal protection of the law. It administers all programs—admissions, financial aid, employment, instruction, and services—without regard to race, creed, national origin, age, handicaps, or sex, and implements this nondiscriminatory policy under a formal affirmative action program.

K (USPS 289-440) is published January, April, August, and November (Annual Report issue) by Kalamazoo College. Second-class postage paid at Kalamazoo, Michigan, 49007. January, Volume 8, Number 1, 1982. Ray Wilson, Editor; Marcia Price, Class Notes. Photo Credits: Ray Wilson (cover, 9, 12, 13), Kalamazoo Gazette (4, 7, 8, 15), Helen Handelsman (6), Bill Nevill (14, 17).
A big hand for Rolla

President Rainsford leads the applause for Rolla Anderson and wife Pat during the dedication ceremony of the Rolla L. Anderson Athletic Center.
On the surface, Rolla Anderson still seems to be a small-town midwestern boy, gee-whizzling his way through life.

Frankfort, Illinois. William kept bread on the table for his large family through carpentry and construction work in Illinois. Like most midwestern boys, Rolla believed that sports ranked as one of the premiere American virtues behind Mom, apple pie, and the flag. He was a letterwinner as a forward on his high school basketball team, and as a junior he won the last place on his school's football squad.

Tipping the scales at only 120 pounds, Rolla was not exactly a prime gridiron prospect. The coach of the team, in fact, had handed out all but one of the team uniforms, with Rolla and two other students left. The coach said, "Enie, meenie, minie, moe," and his finger landed on Rolla, who proved the coach's "decision" wasn't simply luck when he later won a letter in football as an end.

Rolla also played the infield on a city-league baseball team, and impressed enough people to be offered a contract in 1943 by the old St. Louis Browns of the American League. Rolla, in college at the time, turned them down.

After high school, Rolla studied and played basketball for a year at Jones County Junior College in Mississippi and helped that team win the state junior college championship. He then transferred to Southeast Missouri University, playing football and captaining the basketball team to the 1943 championship of the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics.

In 1942, Rolla had signed up with the U.S. Marine Corps' V-12 program, an officer-training program of the corps. Similar to ROTC today, the V-12 program was set up at several colleges and universities across the nation to train and educate future military officers. Southeast Missouri had no V-12 program, so in 1943 the Marines transferred Rolla to a school that did — Western Michigan College of Education (now Western Michigan University).

Rolla spent his senior year at Western, earning the remaining credits for his bachelor of science degree and serving as captain of Western's nationally-ranked basketball team. Rolla's most important extra-curricular interest, however, was not basketball but Patricia J. Woodman, a native of Jackson, Michigan, and also a student at Western. Rolla and Pat were married in 1944 after he graduated from Western. The Anderson family now includes three daughters, Julie, Susan, and Mary, and five grandchildren, in whose presence Rolla turns a consistency of soft butter.

Rolla received his discharge from the Marines in 1945 and re-entered Western to earn his teacher's certificate. His first job was at Marshall High School as teacher and football coach. After a year at Marshall, Rolla moved to Battle Creek Lakeview High School, teaching and coaching the football team there. Rolla built the team into a state powerhouse, winning a state championship and losing only one game during his last three years as Battle Creek coach.

In 1953, Rolla received a telephone call from Harold T. Smith, business manager and administrative head of Kalamazoo College during the interim presidency of John Scott Everton and Weimer Hix. "Mr. Smith asked me if I was interested in a job at Kalamazoo College," recalled Rolla. "I asked him if this was a 'road trip,' or if the college was really interested in me." Rolla, who had turned down offers from a couple of other schools, accepted the job of football coach and athletic director, and his "road trip" to Kalamazoo has been a long and successful one.

"I can still remember my first football team here at the College," Rolla said. "At the first practice we had less than 11 players." Rolla beat the buses for a few more players, and fielded a team that went 1-7 that year.

Rolla soon discovered that he had tackled one of the toughest jobs in sports — coaching a team at a small liberal arts college. Kalamazoo College offers no athletic scholarships to lure players to "K," and its rigorous academic program means less time available for practice.

By Ray Wilson
Editor

A crowd of more than two hundred people were assembled in Kalamazoo College's new athletic center last October to witness the building's dedication ceremony scheduled for that morning. The people had come to tour the new structure, to see the shiny equipment and polished floors where future "K" athletes would hone their skills, but the main reason they had come was to honor the person most responsible for the new center — Rolla L. Anderson. Although he laid no bricks, although he did not give a million dollars to help finance the construction, Rolla's persistent lobbying for a decent indoor athletic facility for Kalamazoo's student body resulted in the decision to demolish decrepit Tredway Gymnasium and build this new center. And now, at 11 a.m. on this day, October 31, 1981, Kalamazoo College would recognize officially the fruition of Rolla's long labor.

Anderson. Although he laid no bricks, although he did not give a million dollars to help finance the construction, Rolla's persistent lobbying for a decent indoor athletic facility for Kalamazoo's student body resulted in the decision to demolish decrepit Tredway Gymnasium and build this new center. And now, at 11 a.m. on this day, October 31, 1981, Kalamazoo College would recognize officially the fruition of Rolla's long labor by naming the new building the Rolla L. Anderson Athletic Center.

As the ceremony progressed, and as various speakers poured plaudits into the microphone about Rolla and his many achievements, the man being honored glanced at his shoes and smiled occasionally. Then it was his turn to speak.

"I intend to proceed cautiously and incoherently," he began, "a manner which characterizes my style."

That joke illustrates the contrasts that make up Rolla Anderson's modus operandi. A man with an ineradicable sense of confusion about himself, Rolla nevertheless runs the United States Tennis Association National Boys' Championships with a clockwork precision and efficiency that would be the envy of the British Royal Guards. And when it comes to working with people, Rolla seems to be the most agreeable and compromising person in the room — until the meeting is over and you realize that almost everything has gone exactly the way Rolla wanted it to go. On the surface, he still seems to be a small-town midwestern boy, gee-whizzling his way through life, but whose persona masks a savvy, streetwise intelligence that has helped build Kalamazoo College's athletic program into one of the finest of its size.

If he hadn't become athletic director at "K" (a post he has held since 1953), Rolla would have made a good tennis hustler. He certainly has the skill and demeanor to pull it off. Any of his opponents who have seen Rolla walk stiff-
A wave of Rolla's hand and all problems disappear at the USTA National Boys Championship.

But Rolla wouldn't have it any other way. "Sports is a part of the total educational program at Kalamazoo," he said. "Our coaches are concerned about the welfare of the players. This is important in an institution such as ours."

This is not to say that Kalamazoo got kicked around on the playing field. Rolla's teams won their share of games, and his 1962 team compiled a perfect 8-0 record. That team was no steamroller, though. It was a team small in size but large in spirit, a team that fought, scratched, and clawed its way to victory and simply refused to be beaten. The squad numbered fewer than 40 players, and only two of those weighed more than 200 pounds.

"They were a group of young men who loved to play and were determined to win," said Rolla. "They were a cohesive group. We didn't have any particularly outstanding athletes on the team, but they really believed in themselves and collectively they were strong." Rolla recalled Albion, whom the Hornets edged by a touchdown, as the toughest opponent on the schedule. Rolla was named Michigan's "Coach of the Year" for guiding the team to its perfect mark.

"Rolla did a lot of things right that season," said Ray Comeau ('63), co-captain of the '62 team. "The right player in the right position, game tactics, a good playbook, and so forth.

"But it was Rolla's attitude that was the key — his positive, trust-the-players attitude," Comeau continued. "Sometimes late in the 1960 season (four wins, five losses), he started saying, 'You guys are champions,' over and over again. We started to believe it. He also believed that we should learn to lead ourselves, to take charge. In the locker room before every game, he would simply say, 'All right, everybody out.' He had brought us this far, now we had to do the rest."

In 1967, Rolla handed over the reins of the football team to Ed Baker in order to devote more of his time to his increased duties as athletic director and to his job of running the USTA National Boys' Tennis Championships. The tournament, which has been held at Kalamazoo's Stowe Tennis Stadium since 1943, is a nightmare of scheduling and housing problems for almost 300 temperamental and sometimes downright recalcitrant teenage tennis players. Throw in a throng of doting parents, thousands of spectators daily, transportation and parking requirements, public relations and press needs, plus keeping an eye on ballrunners, scorekeepers, umpires, referees, and other officials, and you've got an organizational problem that makes Hannibal's crossing of the Alps look like a school picnic.

Rolla somehow keeps all the balls in the air, doing it all with a volunteer staff of hundreds plus a little professional help from his friends. He and his staff do such a good job of it that the USTA remains steadfastly committed to keeping the tournament in Kalamazoo rather than staging it in one of the glamour capitals of the nation.

Last year was Rolla's 25th as tournament director, a job that was bestowed upon him in 1957 shortly after the death of Allen B. Stowe in an automobile accident. Stowe, chemistry professor and coach of the men's tennis team at Kalamazoo for many years, had directed the tournament since its inception at Kalamazoo College in 1943. "The very next day after the accident, President Hicks came up to me and said, 'Rolla, you are now director of the tournament,'" Rolla recalled. "At that time the tournament didn't involve very many people. Now it involves a huge number of people in the community. It's been a good thing for the College and the city; both of them have benefited as a result of it."

The tenure of Rolla Anderson as athletic director at Kalamazoo College has been marked by expansion of athletic opportunities and facilities for "K" students. During the Anderson years, Calder Fieldhouse was built and enlarged twice; Angell Field (the football facility) was enlarged and remodeled; MacKenzie Field (used for intramural sports and soccer) was created; the Natatorium (swimming) was constructed; and Stowe Tennis Stadium was enlarged from nine to 11 courts and its surface changed from clay to hard-court. The athletic program expanded from six men's varsity sports in 1953 to nine today. Women's sports, under the direction of women's athletic director Tish Loveless, went from a standing start in the early '50s to six varsity sports today.

Intramural activity has increased, with 30 percent of the College's student body participating in at least one intramural sport.

The new Anderson Athletic Center (page eight) is the crown jewel of "K's" athletic program, the cherry on the sundae. And if anyone was a shoo-in for the name, it was Rolla. As Jack Moss, sports editor of the Kalamazoo Gazette, wrote: "Nice, wasn't it, that Kalamazoo College named its new athletic facility after someone who contributed with deeds instead of someone who contributed only financially as is the case at far too many schools."

Rolla has contributed in deed to many other causes as well. He has been honored for his contributions to tennis by the USTA, the state of Michigan, and the city of Kalamazoo. In 1976, he was named "Volunteer of the Year" by the Kalamazoo Kiwanis Club, and in 1977 the Kalamazoo chapter of B'nai Brith chose him as its "Man of the Year."

"It's still a funny feeling," Rolla said about the new center being named after him. "I don't know how to explain it. I think what I enjoy more is that perhaps I did have some influence on some of the people in the College. That excites me more than having my name inscribed on a building."

"My mother wanted me to be a minister," he continued. "I said, 'Mom, I can't be a minister, but I'll go into sports and help people.'" A smart decision. Ministry's loss was Kalamazoo College's gain. Besides, can you imagine a preacher that deliberately cultivates an incoherent style of speaking?

---

The 1962 season was a ball for Rolla, captains Ray Comeau and Jim Harkema, and the rest of the Hornet gridders.

K Magazine 7
Out with the old,

Anyone who remembers the dilapidated condition of old Tredway Gymnasium will be in for a pleasant shock upon laying eyes on Kalamazoo College’s brand-new Anderson Athletic Center. In place of peeling paint and crumbling cinder block is gleaming tile and warm red brick. In place of those tiny window panes and painted-out windows are long expanses of smoked-glass picture windows. And Tredway’s dark, dank locker rooms have been replaced with carpeted rooms and pleasant lighting.

The changes are not merely cosmetic. The new athletic center is well-equipped to provide the type of conditioning and training needed by the College’s varsity athletes as well as facilities for intramural and community sports. With the other athletic facilities at “K” (Angell Field, the Natatorium, Stowe Tennis Stadium, and the recently-renovated Calder Fieldhouse), Anderson Athletic Center gives Kalamazoo College one of the best athletic plants among liberal arts colleges.

Planning for the new athletic center began several years ago, early in the Funds for the Future capital campaign at “K.” Realizing that something would have to be done with crumbling Tredway, the College briefly considered renovating the pre-World War I building, but decided to raze it instead and start from scratch. The former Fischer Tennis House, attached to Tredway, was preserved and its shell now houses the main basketball arena of the center. Tredway was demolished in April, 1980, and construction begun soon after. The outer walls and roof were completed by fall of 1980, and workers spent another year finishing the interior of the building. Enough of the building was completed in June of 1981 to allow Commencement exercises to be held there when rain washed out the ceremony planned for the campus quadrangle. Finally, on October 31, 1981 (Homecoming day), the Rolla L. Anderson Athletic Center was formally dedicated in a ceremony that attracted a couple of hundred friends and former students of Rolla and Kalamazoo College. Since then, many students, faculty, staff, and community residents have been active users of the facility.

In addition to the main playing surface of three basketball courts and a volleyball court, the Anderson Athletic Center has facilities for badminton, wrestling, and gymnastics. For those who want to pump some iron, there is a fully-equipped weight room. A dance studio, with hardwood floors and full-length mirrors, has already seen heavy use by the College dance classes. And to help ease those aching muscles, a training room with whirlpool baths has been included.

Of course, there are men’s, women’s, and visiting team locker rooms with showers, saunas, and hair dryers, a referees’ locker room, laundry room, and equipment room. A classroom, conference room, and offices for the physical education staff round out the facility.

All in all, the new athletic center is a dream come true for Rolla Anderson and the rest of the College’s athletic staff and students. And Rolla only had to wait 28 years for it!

— Ray Wilson
in with the new

Clockwise from top left: Rolla Anderson and President Rainsford look over the main basketball arena of Anderson Athletic Center; the hardwood floors and mirrored walls of the dance studio will help dancers keep in top form; full locker facilities are available for men, women, and visiting teams; the training room with two whirlpool baths will be much appreciated by "K" athletes; and freshman Steve Siwik works out in the well-equipped weight room.
How to live like a millionaire...
By W. Haydn Ambrose
Director of Estate Planning, Kalamazoo College

Every year since his graduation in 1963, Dennis has contributed from his current income to the annual fund at his college. This year, in addition to increasing his annual gift a little, he made a future endowment gift of $25,000 to his alma mater! Dennis didn't win the state lottery, nor receive a legacy from a wealthy aunt. He did it with the help of his life insurance agent.

The financial needs of educational institutions are rising faster than the overall inflation rate. Even though these needs are recognized by alumni and friends who sincerely want to help, it is understandable that most people feel that a large gift would be well beyond their means. How can they help the college survive and prosper so it is there to educate their great-grandchildren?

While most people can afford to make regular donations to their favorite philanthropies, many feel they cannot give thousands of dollars, either now or through later bequests. However, by using life insurance, a person of modest means, at any age, can raise his or her contribution to a truly significant level. This can be done by giving an existing policy, paid-up or not, directly to the college. But what Dennis did was something different, so let's talk about him.

Dennis's life insurance agent sold him a $25,000 policy, which cost him $42 per month, with his college named as the owner and beneficiary. His premium is tax-deductible and he has already named his $25,000 "future bequest" the Dennis Smith Library Fund. He knows that in all the future years, his contribution to his alma mater will continue as new books are added to the library every year through his generosity.

IT'S GREAT FOR DENNIS

1. An individual can make a generous contribution without impairing savings or other financial responsibilities. A small cash contribution each year by way of a premium deposit assures a substantial gift in cash whenever the life insurance policy matures.

2. Life insurance gifts are not subject to shrinkage from legal fees, taxes, probate, or administrative costs. The life insurance gift proceeds are paid immediately to the charitable beneficiary.

3. When the college is named as both the beneficiary and the owner of a new policy, the premiums are deductible for income tax purposes. In such an arrangement, the proceeds paid to the college also escape estate taxes.

IT'S GREAT FOR THE COLLEGE

1. The institution shares with Dennis the pride of knowing that the Dennis Smith Library Fund is already a reality.

2. A hundred Dennises, with modest monthly insurance premiums, can establish a future endowment of $2,500,000. (A hundred donors paying $1,000 a year, average age 45, can create an endowment of $5,000,000!)

3. An insurance gift makes possible the fulfillment of the college's need and the donor's wish beyond the lifetime of the donor. What a wonderful way to continue forever the caring relationship of Dennis and his alma mater.

IT'S A REAL BARGAIN

A $10,000 whole life policy in one company requires an annual premium of a little more than $200 (for a man age 40). Annual dividends could be used to reduce the premiums below this amount. With the college having the ownership, the net cost after tax outlay to the donor would be significantly lower, as the following example illustrates:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Value of Gift</th>
<th>Annual Gross Premium*</th>
<th>Net annual outlay depending on donor's income tax bracket</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>$ 10,000</td>
<td>$ 216</td>
<td>$ 162 $ 138 $ 112</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>25,000</td>
<td>510</td>
<td>383 $ 326 $ 265</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>50,000</td>
<td>1,000</td>
<td>750 $ 640 $ 520</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>100,000</td>
<td>1,979</td>
<td>1,484 $ 1,267 $ 1,029</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Kalamazoo College encourages you to consider this method of supporting your alma mater in the years ahead. For detailed information, return the coupon below to receive a helpful booklet, Gifts of Life Insurance. It may help you to live like a millionaire — at least in relation to your favorite college!

*Assumes the donor is a man, 40 years old. Annual dividends which could be used to reduce premium outlay are not shown. Annual premiums are rounded to the nearest dollar.

___ Send the booklet, Gifts of Life Insurance
___ Send the booklet, Estate Planning Opportunities

Name ________________________________
Address ________________________________
Class year ________________________________

Check here if this is a new address ______

Please return this coupon to:
W. Haydn Ambrose
Estate Planning Office
Kalamazoo College
Kalamazoo, Michigan 49007

K Magazine 11
SPORTS AT THE COLLEGE

FOOTBALL
The scene: Homecoming, October 31. Two seconds remain in the football game between Kalamazoo and Olivet, with "K" holding a 20-15 lead. But Olivet has the ball on the Hornet five-yard line and time for one more play to win the game. Olivet's quarterback steps back to pass and overthrows his receiver in the end zone. But an overeager "K" defender gives the receiver a shove and suddenly it's raining yellow flags.

Since the game cannot end on a defensive penalty, Olivet gets another chance. Now the ball is on the "K" one-foot line, no time remaining. A dreaded sense of déjà vu sweeps through the spectators as they recall the Homecoming game two years ago when this same Olivet team scored a last-minute touchdown to beat the Hornets and spoil that Homecoming celebration. With the crowd in hysterics, Olivet lines up and gives the ball to Phil Mitchell, its leading rusher who has rambled for 143 yards that day and baffled the Hornet defense. This time, however, Mitchell bounces off three Hornet tacklers and is still straining for paydirt when a swarm of Hornets brings him down inches from the goal line. "K's" victory is preserved, and the Homecoming crowd has true cause for celebration.

That victory was one of the few sweet moments for the Hornet football team this season which compiled a 3-6 record overall and 2-3 in the MIAA. The season was a vindication of sorts for coach Ed Baker, whose team had been picked for the cellar of the MIAA in the pre-season coaches poll. One reason for Kalamazoo's modest success was senior quarterback Joe Scott, who finished third in the league in both total offense and passing. Senior Tony Cholometes was the seventh-leading rusher, senior Pat Flaherty was seventh in pass receiving, and junior Mike Asher was the MIAA's leading kick returner with a 22.8 yard average per return. Kalamazoo placed one player on the all-league team — junior defensive tackle Jack Lawless.

Final MIAA football

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>T</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Hope</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adrian</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Albion</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kalamazoo</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alma</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Olivet</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

SOCCER
The Hornet soccer team surged to second place this season with a mark of 8-1-3, its best finish in the MIAA since winning the championship in 1975. The turning point in the Hornet schedule came on Homecoming when the team forged a 1-1 tie with Calvin (the eventual champion) in a bloody, grueling contest that stretched through two overtime periods into the evening twilight. That hard-fought tie allowed Kalamazoo to finish a half game ahead of Hope in third place. The team established an overall record this year of 11-3-3.

Four Hornets on coach Hardy Fuch's team finished in the top 12 in MIAA scoring — seniors Amusa Dere and Dan Minkus and juniors John Spitzer and Mark Koets. Three players (Dere, Minkus, and senior Ichiro Tsuruoka) were named first-team all-MIAA, and four other Hornets were honored as second-team selections — Spitzer, junior Tomi Lod, and freshmen David Stranquist and Mike Theodoulou.

Final MIAA soccer

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>T</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Calvin</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kalamazoo</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hope</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>2</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alma</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Albion</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adrian</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Olivet</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Tony Cholometes (34) and Blake Hill (78) protect Hornet quarterback Joe Scott during last fall's Homecoming game against Olivet. Kalamazoo won that thriller of a game, 20-15.
FIELD HOCKEY
The Hornet field hockey team improved its MIAA mark to 3-9 this season, and won more games this year than the past three seasons combined. That record placed "K" in the fifth spot in the MIAA standings, a notch better than last year's finish. Although the Hornets lacked scoring punch—they scored only seven goals all season—they made the most of the goals that they did score to upset a couple of their MIAA competitors.

Three players from coach Tish Loveless's team were selected for the Michigan College all-star team. They were Martha Haug, Catherine Smith, and Sheryl Stout, all seniors.

Final MIAA field hockey

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Calvin</td>
<td>12</td>
<td>0</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Albion</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hope</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adrian</td>
<td>7</td>
<td>5</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kalamazoo</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alma</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Olivet</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

CROSS COUNTRY
Under second-year coach John Griffin, Kalamazoo's cross country team raised its dual meet record this season to an even 3-3 and finished a rung higher than last year in the MIAA race by placing fourth. The team claimed the same position in the league meet, thanks to the efforts of Greg Schuetz, who finished fifth, and senior Perry Henschke, who placed eighth.

Schuetz, only a sophomore, was named to the all-MIAA cross country team. Other outstanding runners for the Hornets this year included senior Mike Houk and freshman Mark Rolain.

Final MIAA cross country

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
<th>League meet</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Calvin (tie)</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>58</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hope (tie)</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>38</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Albion</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>59</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kalamazoo</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>75</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alma</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>4</td>
<td>121</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adrian</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>5</td>
<td>187</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Olivet</td>
<td>0</td>
<td>6</td>
<td>dnc</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

GOLF
"A disappointing, but pleasing season," was the way coach Ray Steffen described the finish by the Hornet golf team in the MIAA this year. After placing last in the first two league meets, Kalamazoo came roaring back like an Arnold Palmer charge to contend for second place in the conference before ending up fifth. Still, that was one step higher than last year's finish, and the young "K" team expects to improve its record next season.

Junior Randy Trent was low scorer for Kalamazoo, firing an average 81.3 strokes per round. He was named most valuable golfer for the Hornets and second-team all-MIAA. Captain Scott Patterson, the only senior on the team, placed 11th in scoring in the MIAA with an 81.4 average. Freshman Mike Kraushaar won Kalamazoo's most improved player award for his 85.3 stroke average.

Final MIAA golf

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>Points</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Olivet</td>
<td>78</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Albion</td>
<td>64</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Adrian</td>
<td>41</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hope</td>
<td>37</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kalamazoo</td>
<td>32</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alma</td>
<td>28</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calvin</td>
<td>14</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

VOLLEYBALL
One could say that the volleyball team's fortunes have nowhere to go but up. The 1-11 season the team suffered through was certainly a frustrating one, but coach Tina Nottoli can take consolation from the fact that all but four of her players were freshmen and sophomores. The trials and tribulations of this year should have tempered the team for future competition.

Freshman Kim Stewart and sophomore Geri Fletcher led the Hornets in scoring with 3.59 and 3.07 averages, respectively. Other strong players for "K" included sophomore Mary Fideler and freshman Susan Case.

Final MIAA volleyball

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Team</th>
<th>W</th>
<th>L</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Adrian</td>
<td>11</td>
<td>1</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Hope</td>
<td>9</td>
<td>3</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Alma</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Calvin</td>
<td>8</td>
<td>4</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Olivet</td>
<td>3</td>
<td>9</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Albion</td>
<td>2</td>
<td>10</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Kalamazoo</td>
<td>1</td>
<td>11</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
NEWS OF THE COLLEGE

BALCH, VAN LIERE RETIRE

Nelda Balch, professor of theatre, and Donald Van Liere, professor of psychology, have retired from their teaching duties at the College. Both were granted emeritus status by the Board of Trustees, and both were honored by having parts of the College campus named for them.

Nelda Balch earned her BA from Albion College and MA at the University of Minnesota. She came to the College in 1954, a time when the theatre program at "K" was simply an appendage of the speech department and the only theatre facility was a small auditorium in Bowen Hall. Nelda Balch turned the theatre program around and garnered support to build not one but three top-notch theatres on campus — Dalton Theatre, The Playhouse, and the Dungeon Theatre. Through her efforts and the efforts of the theatre faculty, the theatre department at Kalamazoo is one of the finest among liberal arts colleges. Kalamazoo College has renamed The Playhouse as Balch Playhouse in recognition of her achievements and contributions to "K."

A graduate of Hope College, Donald Van Liere earned his MA and PhD at Indiana University. Joining the Kalamazoo faculty in 1949, he was the shaping force in psychology at "K" in the 1950s and '60s, and he made experimental psychology a high priority during his chairmanship. Van Liere founded and equipped a psychology laboratory to teach the intricacies of the discipline, and psychology gained an identity and integrity all its own at Kalamazoo. Donald Van Liere has also been active in the American Psychological Association, American EEG Society, American Association for the Advancement of Science, and other medical and psychological groups. In honor of his many accomplishments, the psychology laboratory in Dewing Hall has been renamed for Donald Van Liere.

1982 BACH FESTIVAL

Kalamazoo College's Bach Festival will present an outstanding selection of Baroque music during Bach Festival week February 27 to March 6. This is the 36th year for the Festival, and 21st under the direction of conductor Russell A. Hammar.

Festival week begins with the Young Artists' Concert Saturday, February 27, at 8 p.m. The concert features outstanding young musicians from Michigan, who are first screened by tape recordings and then chosen in live auditions by distinguished judges from outside the state. The Chamber Music Concert begins at 4 p.m. on Sunday, February 28, and features guest artists with the Bach Chorus and Orchestra. Guest performers are trumpeter David Hickman and soprano Doralene Davis. Monday evening, March 1, Hickman will present a trumpet master class.

The major work of the Festival will be J.S. Bach's Mass in B minor, performed by the Bach Chorus with soloists Hickman, Davis, alto Ana Gatti, tenor Gary Glaze, and bass David Ford. The March 6 concert will take place in two parts at 5 and 8:15 p.m., with the intermission dinner for performers and spectators scheduled for 6:30 p.m.

All concerts will be presented in Stetson Chapel. Brochures with more complete information can be obtained by writing the Bach Festival Office, 210 Light Fine Arts Building, Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Michigan, 49007. Tickets can be reserved by mail or by telephone, (616) 349-2948.

K-NOTES

The 1981-82 Florence J. Lucasse Fellowships have been awarded to Lawrence Rackley Smith, professor of music, and John Wickstrom, associate professor of history. Both will receive a $1,000 stipend. The Lucasse Fellowships are given annually to two Kalamazoo College Faculty members in honor of Florence J. Lucasse, a 1910 graduate of "K" who gave the College a substantial endowment through her will.

The Kalamazoo College Board of Trustees has granted tenure to two faculty members. The two are John Fink, assistant professor of mathematics, and Robert Grossman, assistant professor of psychology.

The first annual Tourtellotte Lecture was given November 3 at Kalamazoo College. Featured speaker was Dr. Lucienne Couture of Universite Pierre et Marie Curie, Paris, who lectured on "Reversibility, irreversibility, and structure: Behind Alice's mirror in science." The Tourtellotte Lectures honor Dee and Helen Tourtellotte, both graduates of Kalamazoo College. Dee Tourtellotte, retired president of Kind & Knox Gelatine Company, is an eminent scientist whose scientific efforts have specialized in biochemistry, spectrography, nutrition, psychology, and blood plasma substitutes.

Joe K. Fugate, director of the Foreign Study Program at Kalamazoo College, received the award Chevalier dans L'Ordre des Palmes Academiques during a recent visit to the University of Strasbourg, France. Originally established by Napoleon Bonaparte in 1808, this prestigious decoration is awarded (on the recommendation of France's minister of education) to those who have distinguished themselves by eminent service to French education and culture. Professor Lucien Braun, president of the University of Arts and Letters at Strasbourg, presided over the awards ceremony on November 12, 1981.

Louise Johnson, former dean of women at Kalamazoo College, died July 18, 1981. For her obituary, see the 1932 "Class Notes" entry under Charles K. Johnson.

Andrew Stevenson, who taught economics at Kalamazoo College from 1929-32, died June 10, 1981. He worked as an analyst with the Securities and Exchange Commission, was director of the transportation equipment division of the War Production Board during World War II, and later served two years on the U.S. Navy's renegotiation board. From 1947 to 1969, he served as economist and staff director of the U.S. House of Representatives Committee on Interstate and Foreign Commerce. He is survived by his wife, Elizabeth, two sons, a grandson, and two brothers and a sister.
Marion Monteith Hudson, 3300 Woodstone Road, Apt. 103, Kalamazoo, 49008; a son and two daughters: a brother, Winthrop S. Hudson (’33); 11 grandchildren, including Jane M. Hudson (’74); two great-grandchildren; and his niece, Helen Birdsell Tucker (’55). Richardson was preceded in death by his two sisters, Helen M. Hudson, who died in 1976, and Ruth Hudson Birdsell (’21), who died in 1978.

1920
Alita Sutherland Fennell died July 11, 1981. She was a teacher for many years at Covert, Michigan, High School, and was active in the First Baptist Church of South Haven, Michigan. She is survived by her son, Jack N. Fennell, Route 4, Box 22, South Haven, Michigan, 49090; four grandchildren; and two great-grandchildren. Charlotte Pinckney Smith died July 1, 1981, in Pontiac, Michigan. She was a substitute teacher in Birmingham, Michigan, and during World War II was active in the Red Cross and served as an air raid warden in Birmingham. She was in charge of fuel oil rationing in Oakland County during the war. She was active in the Needlework Guild and the First Baptist Church of Birmingham. She is survived by three daughters, including Martha Smith Akin (’47); a brother; seven grandchildren; and a great-granddaughter. Her husband, Raymond H. Smith (’23), preceded her in death in 1969.

1923
Glen W. Gilman died October 8, 1981. He was a pharmacist for many years in Kalamazoo, and a life member of the St. Joseph Valley Lodge No. 4 F&AM and the North Presbyterian Church. He also worked as an income tax consultant for H&R Block of Kalamazoo.

Joseph E. Wilbur died August 24, 1981, in Kalamazoo. He was an administrative engineer for the Michigan Department of Transportation for 35 years, and was a proponent of the development of Michigan’s freeway system. He served as assistant to the deputy commissioner/chief engineer in Lansing and was also expressway coordinating engineer and chairman of the engineering development committee. He was also a member of the city of Kalamazoo’s transportation committee and its planning commission. He was a member of the Rotary Club and the Michigan Society of Professional Engineers. He is survived by a daughter and a granddaughter.

1924
Thomas S. Cobb died on November 12, 1981. While a student at Kalamazoo College he served as president of the Student Senate and business manager of the Index and the Boiling Pot. He received a ThB degree from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1931 and an MA degree from Columbia University in 1933.

Richard G. Hudson (‘18)
Jerald Hoekstra of Kalamazoo; Amy Babcock Kuhn of Vicksburg; Byron and Marion Graybiel (‘22) Means of Sylvan, Ohio; Grace Marie Lass­folk Ream of Allegan; Murray (‘19) and Doris Powell (‘20) Rice of Alfred, New York; Margaret Cady Searl of Grand Rapids; Evelyn Dres­sel Steidtmann of Bowling Green, Ohio; Sarah L. and Doris Stowe Weber of Kalamazoo; and Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Wilcox (’22) of Daytona Beach, Florida.

1925
Winifred G. Radkey Des­Autels celebrated their 55th wed­ding anniversary August 2, 1979, at their home in Redford, Michigan. Fred wrote the History and Heritage of Redford Township, and he occa­sionally lectures on local history to many groups.

1926
Edwin G. Gemrich was honored for his 50 years of law practice during the State Bar of Michigan’s annual banquet last September.

1927
Paul E. Simmons died on April 10, 1981, in Plymouth, Michigan. While a student at Kalamazoo College, he was a member of the Century Forum, “K” Club, and played baseball. He was employed by Michigan Bell Telephone Company for many years. Survivors include his wife, Mary Johnson Simmons (’30), 560 Hart­sough, Plymouth, Michigan, 48170; two sons and a daughter.

Marjorie Volkers Largent died in March 1981, in Cincinnati, Ohio­gon. She had a master’s degree in psychology from Columbia University. She had been employed as a methods analyst and time standards engineer with aircraft companies and taught in the Los Angeles school system. She is survived by two sons and a sister.

1928
Frances Clark is president of the New School for Music Study in Princeton, New Jersey, which she and Louise L. Goss (‘48) founded in 1960. She and Louise are co-authors of the Frances Clark Library for Piano Students, which is being translated and published in Japan.

Bennard Dowd has retired after 47 years of practicing medicine in Kal­amazoo, and was honored last De­cember at an open house at the First Baptist Church of Kalamazoo. He and his wife, Dorothy Allen Dowd (‘26), live in Kalamazoo during their retirement.

K Magazine 15
Timothy G. Meuleenburg died October 17, 1981, at his home in Naples, Florida. A basketball star at "K," he co-founded the Automotive Rubber Company and the Automotive Spring Company. He also helped start the Gulf Lake View Golf Course. He was a member of the National Chamber of Commerce, American Ordnance Association, Detroit Athletic Club, and the Park Club of Kalamazoo. He is survived by his wife, Lois, 26,465 Terrace, S.W., Naples; five sons and two daughters; five grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

1929
Louis Levin died March 11, 1981, after a long illness. After receiving his degree from "K," he earned his Ph.D. in biological chemistry at St. Louis University. He taught at Columbia University and did research in biochemical endocrinology, and became internationally known for his investigation of hormonal control of the male reproductive cycle. In 1948, he joined the Office of Naval Research as head of the scientific division and later became head of the biochemistry branch. From 1960-64, he was dean of science and associate dean of faculty at Brandeis University. He served as a science administrator for the National Science Foundation, and was special consultant to the president at Texas Tech University. He retired in 1974. He was a trustee of the Carver Research Foundation of Tuskegee Institute and was a member of the Advisory Committee and Council on Graduate Education of the U.S. Office of Education. He wrote more than 50 articles in professional journals, principally in the field of biochemical endocrinology. He was a member of several professional and honor societies. In June, 1981, he was posthumously awarded the Emeritus Club Certificate of Merit by Kalamazoo College, and received the news of this award before his death. He is survived by his wife, Esther, 1730 La Coronilla Drive, Santa Barbara, California, 93109; two children; and a sister, Edith Levin ('28).

1930
Ezra Merrill currently does volunteer work two days a week at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary. He is retired as president of H.P. Hood and Sons, Inc. in Boston.

1931
Evelyn Rankin Rye of Kalamazoo served as chairman of the "K" class of 1931 50th reunion last June on the College campus. Also attending the reunion were Lodisca Payne Alway of Bloomington; William R. Appeldorn of Kalamazoo; Thomas and Carita Clark ('27) Fox of Kalamazoo; Howard Frost and his wife Dorothy of Middleville; Bob and Maxine

1932
Don W. Hayne has retired from the faculty at North Carolina State University, where he has worked since 1962 as technical director of the Southeastern Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Statistics Project, a unit that provides statistical advice and service to 11 game and fish departments in southeastern states. For his work with the project, he recently received the distinguished service award. He was also awarded the Clarence W. Watson Award, a prestigious honor presented annually by the Southern Division American Fisheries Society, the Southeastern Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies, and the southeastern section of the Wildlife Society. Louise Johnson, wife of Charles K. Johnson, died July 18, 1981, in Wallingford, Pennsylvania. She was dean of women at Kalamazoo College from 1950-63, and was also associate professor of education and advisor to the Women's League and Student Senate. She was very active in the First Presbyterian Church of Kalamazoo, and was Charles' pastor for 30 years. She moved to Philadelphia in 1963 as an eastern representative of Kalamazoo College in the Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Washington, D.C., areas. She received her B.A. from William and Mary College and M.A. from Columbia University. She is survived by her husband, 2920 Crystal Lane, Kalamazoo, 49009; three daughters; and three grandchildren.

1933
Winthrop S. Hudson, adjunct professor of religion at the University of North Carolina, was named "alumnus of the year" by the Divinity School of the University of Chicago. The third edition of his widely used textbook, Religion in America, was published last summer by Scribner's.

1934
Marshall H. Rutz died October 3, 1981, in Parchment, Michigan. He earned his master's from the University of Michigan and joined KVP Sutherland Paper Company as a chemical engineer. He retired to general superintendent of manufacturing and director of research. He retired from the firm, which became the Brown Company, after 35 years of service. He was active in the Kalamazoo College Alumni Association, serving as president of the group from 1960 to 1962, member of the awards committee, and a class agent for many years, was an elder at the First Presbyterian Church, and a member of the Kalamazoo Kiwanis Club. He also served as president of the Kalamazoo Area Safety Council. He is survived by his wife, Mildred, 260 Parchment, Parchment; a son and two daughters; three sisters; and four grandchildren.

1935
Virginia Kibler Aldrich was re-elected commissioner of the city of Parchment, Michigan, last fall. She is a library aide for the Parchment Community Library.

1937
Jean Smith Renne has retired as elementary school library coordinator in Downers Grove, Illinois.

1938
Robert J. Barnes has been elected president of Estée Lauder (U.S.A.), the cosmetics company's domestic operating division. He lives in Connecticut.

1939
Stanley Lane has retired as supervisor of Brady Township in Kalamazoo County. Donald C. Smith has joined the stockbroker firm of Fahnestock & Company in Kalamazoo.

1941
Clark Bouwman has returned to full-time teaching of sociology at Eckerd College, after nearly 15 years as an administrator. He teaches half-time in the Rochester College and half-time in the college's Program for Experienced Learners, an adult degree program which he developed while he was dean of special programs.

1942
Robert Larsen is a scientist at Argonne National Laboratory in Chicago and is recognized as an authority on plutonium. He serves on the Illinois Board of Education of Handicapped Scientists.

1943
LeVerne C. LeRoy, Jr. died July 24, 1981, in Hickory Corners, Michigan. After running his own vending business and working as a salesman for Beechnut Packing Company, he received his teacher's certification from Western Michigan University and taught in the Gull Lake and Delton school districts. He was a Mason and a member of the Michigan Education Association. He is survived by his wife, Betty Baker LeRoy, 10960 North 43rd Street, Hickory Corners, 49060; three sons; three grandchildren; and two brothers.

1948
Louise L. Goss is executive vice-president of the New School for Music Study in Princeton, New Jersey, which she and Frances Clark ('28) founded in 1960. She and Frances are co-authors of the Frances Clark Library for Piano Students, which is being translated and published in Japan.

Caroline Richardson Ham was elected mayor of Kalamazoo last fall, the first woman to be elected mayor of Kalamazoo. She is assistant director of the L. Lee Stryker Center at Kalamazoo College.

George and Jacqueline Buck Malinson were honored last November at the School Science and Mathematics Association convention for their 25 years of service as editor and assistant editor, respectively, of the SSMA journal, School Science and Mathematics. They will retire from these positions next June. Both teach at Western Michigan University. Betty and Jack Rapetzky were featured in an article in the Kalamazoo magazine Encore last November for their 37 years of producing plays at the Barn Theatre in Augusta, Michigan.

1949
Bob Wagner, sportswriter for the Kalamazoo Gazette, received the 1981 Distinguished Service Award during the USTA Boys' 16-18 Championships at Kalamazoo College's Stadium last August. He was chosen for the honor for his 36 years of covering the tournament for the Gazette.

Romayne Rubson Hollingsworth died October 1, 1981, in Reno, Nevada. She received a medical retirement from Nevada Bell Telephone Company, where she was an engineer for many years. She was active in DAR. She is survived by her husband, Harvey, 1835 Windsor Way, Reno, Nevada, 89503; and a son.

1950
Robert H. Collins is manager of commercial sales at Jones Industries, Inc., Fort Myers, Florida.

Richard R. Broholm is the faculty of Andover Newton Seminary with responsibility for the ministry of laity program.

George Haines has been named the new coach of Stanford's women's swim team. He was head coach of the U.S. men's Olympic team in 1968 and was selected to coach the 1980 Olympic squad.

Lynn W. May died July 12, 1981. He was a general agent for Provident Life and Accident Insurance Company, and was a member of the company's Top 25 Club and Continental Club. He was former president of the Washington, D.C., Life Underwriters Association and was a former chairman of the organization's life underwriting training council. He was also a member of the

ALUMNI NEWS

ALUMNI DIRECTOR NAMED
Raymond H. Comeau has been named director of alumni relations at Kalamazoo College.

As director, Comeau will be responsible for all programs which encourage continued identification of alumni with the College. Additionally, he will promote alumni involvement in College activities.

"We are delighted with Ray Comeau's acceptance of the position of alumni director. As an alumnus and as a former member of the faculty, he has a special sensitivity to the College which will be valuable," said President Rainford.

Comeau most recently served as general manager of Great Lakes Professional Energy Conservation, Inc. of Portage. From 1976-80, he was assistant professor of education at Kalamazoo College, as well as cross country coach and track coach. He previously taught at Illinois Wesleyan University and Bedford Junior High School in Westport, Connecticut.

A native of Three Rivers, Michigan, Comeau holds a BA degree from Kalamazoo College and MAT and PhD degrees from the University of Chicago.

Comeau, his wife Kim, and their two children, Lori and Stephen, reside in Kalamazoo.

"AND THE WINNER IS . . ."
The Alumni Awards Committee would like your help. The committee is responsible for the selection of a recipient for the Distinguished Alumnus/A Award. It will present the final nomination to the executive board of the Alumni Association for approval.

This award, presented at the Founders' Day observance in April, is given to a graduate "whose acts and deeds, both personal and professional, have brought honor to his/her alma mater." Your nominations will provide a broader base of potential recipients from which to choose, and allow the committee to take the most appropriate nomination to the executive board.

Please send your suggestions with pertinent information (advanced degrees, occupation, publications, honors, community service) to the Alumni Office at the College as soon as possible.

ALUMNI ASSOCIATION NOMINATIONS NEEDED
The nominating committee of the Alumni Association will soon be selecting nominees for Alumni Association officers, alumni trustees, and members-at-large of the Association Executive Board. Candidates for the positions of president, vice-president, and secretary of the Association are needed, along with persons to fill two alumni trustee positions and four executive board positions.

Candidates for these positions should be active, enthusiastic alumni who want to be involved in planning and organizing "K's" growing alumni program.

Please send the names of alumni you would like to have considered with current biographical information to the Alumni Office at the College as soon as possible.

DON'T MISS THESE RED-LETTER DATES
Kalamazoo College has scheduled its 1982 Commencement for the weekend of June 11-12. All alumni are invited to return to the College at this time, and special reunion events are planned for the classes of 1922, 1927, and 1932. In addition, the Emeritus Club breakfast is scheduled for the morning of June 12.

The 1982 Homecoming celebration will take place the weekend of October 22-24, with a schedule crammed full of sporting events, reunions, parties, dances, special alumni mini-classes, and lots of fun and good cheer. All alumni are welcome, but special reunions have been planned for the classes of '37, '42, '47, '52, '57, '62, '67, '72, and '77. So plan to return to "K" to see all your old friends.
D.C. Chartered Life Underwriters Chapter, the D.C. Estate Planning Council, and the Association for Advanced Life Underwriting. For 17 years he taught underwriting classes. During World War II, he was a captain in the Army Air Force and also served in the Air Force during the Korean War. Earlier in 1981, he had received the Wilner Award for his significant contributions to the insurance industry from the D.C. Life Underwriters Association. He is survived by his wife, Phyllis, 9416 Tobin Circle, Potomac, Maryland, 20854; and one son.

Frank J., "Bucky" Walters, Jr., died October 17, 1981. A veteran of the armed forces, a candidate for the Olympic basketball team, and a player on the farm team that opposed the Harlem Globetrotters in the early 1950s, he was tennis and basketball coach at Elkhart, Indiana, High School, and then joined the A. B. Dick Company. He worked his way up and eventually became president of the firm. He is survived by his wife, Shelley, 2508 North Dixie Highway, West Palm Beach, Florida, 33407; his mother; a son and daughter; two step-daughters; a brother; and two grandchildren.

1951
Jim Gilmore, Jr. has assumed the title of chairman and chief executive officer of Jim Gilmore Enterprises.

W. Richard Ralph is owner of Vulcanate Abrasive Wheel Company in Grosse Pointe, Michigan.

Edward A. Hertz is director of marketing for Marcon Line, Ltd. in Los Angeles, California.

Garry E. Brown, former U.S. congressman from Michigan, has been appointed to a presidential commission by Ronald Reagan to study and recommend a national housing policy, including housing finance, tax policies, and housing availability.

1952
Hugh L. Dill is elementary principal of the Ivy Drive School in Bristol, Connecticut. He recently received his educational administration degree from New York University.

Parke B. Brown has been appointed director of process control in manufacturing and engineering technology for Dow Chemical Company, in Midland, Michigan. He has been with Dow in various capacities since 1952.

Arthur and Barbara Clapp ('54) Smith are employed by the Institute for Cultural Affairs in Chicago.

1953
James Boothby, Jr. is owner and operator of Boothby Vacation Travel, Inc. in St. Joseph, Michigan. He is the father of two children, ages 16 and 11.

1954
Franklin D. Elmer, who received an honorary degree from "K" in 1954, has written a book, World in Perment, which includes a selection of his poetry addressed to the social problems of the times. Charles Goodsell's new book, The Public Encounter; Where State and Citizen Meet, was published last fall by Indiana University Press. He is professor of public administration and policy at Virginia Polytechnic Institute and State University.

1955
Elaine Johansen Mange and her husband Arthur have recently signed another contract with Saunders College Publishing Company to write a general genetics text. Their first book (Genetics: Human Aspects, 1980) was very favorably reviewed in the August 6, 1981 issue of The New England Journal of Medicine.

Marcia Wood, associate professor of art at "K," had a sculpture exhibit last summer at Prairia Gallery in Saugatuck, Michigan.

1956
Dwight Baker is a supervisor at Aeroquip in Jackson, Michigan.

John and Gretchen Bahr Frueh live in Pittsburgh, where he is employed at the Wheeling Pittsburgh Steel Corporation. Pamela and Frederic M. Hudson announce the birth of a son, Christopher, on May 11, 1981, in Santa Barbara, California.

Marilyn Everett Frayer is president and owner of Mall Travel in Fort Myers, Florida.

1959
Erwin F. Fromm is senior vice-president of Royal Insurance in New York. He is also chairman of the insurance industry's Insurance Committee for Arson Control, a member of the business school advisory council at the University of Rhode Island, a member of the underwriting advisory council of the Insurance Institute of America, and a contributing author of the Insurance Institute of America's personal lines underwriting text. He is included in Who's Who in Insurance, Who's Who in Industry and Finance, Who's Who in the World, and Who's Who in the East.

John J. Agria is dean for academic affairs at Southampton College in New York.

Terry K. Brown is district sales manager for Whittaker General Medical of Troy, Michigan.

1960
Alfred J. Gemrich was one of the leaders for a seminar entitled "Changes in the Mechanics Lien Law" held at the L. Lee Stryker Center at Kalamazoo College. Al is an attorney in Kalamazoo and a member of the College's Board of Trustees.

Sue Kelley Henger is an associate consultant with the fine arts counseling firm of James Lodge and Associates in Irvine, California.

John A. VanHaaften and Delores A. Kuntz were married June 27, 1981, in Brighton, Michigan. John is employed at the General Motors proving ground in Milford, Michigan.

Gertrude DeHoog Brown is senior pastor at the First Congregational Church United Church of Christ in Union City, Michigan. She was formally installed November 1, 1981. She lives in Union City with her three sons, Gordon, Mason, and Stuart.

1961
Edward E. Bowen is owner of the Century 21 office in Northport, Michigan.

Peter and Carol Dennis Schmidt and their three children live in Pontiac, Michigan, where Carol practices law.

Mary Goss Vitalos is a French teacher at the Grosse Pointe, Michigan, Academy.

1962
Charles and Shirley Wright Bursey live in Sharon, Pennsylvania, with their two children. Shirley is a counselor at Family Planning in Sharon. Charles is acting director of Penn State University's Shenango Valley campus, where he has been a member of the biology faculty since 1970.

Jeffrey E. Kiefer has been promoted to professor of chemistry at Cote College in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Jon and Martha Prete Lindenberg live in Neenah, Wisconsin, with their two children. Jon is employed by Kimberly Clark Corporation.

Jeanette White Piperno died October 4, 1981, in Pennsylvania. She was a biochemist and assistant professor at the Thrombosis Research Center at the Temple University School of Medicine. She received her PhD at the University of Michigan, and her doctoral thesis on amino acid transport was awarded the Benchmark Paper in Microbiology title in 1973 by the American Society of Microbiology. She was a visiting scientist at Princeton University, and held postdoctoral fellowships at Michigan State University and the University of Pennsylvania. Surviving are her husband, Elliot, 2003 Limkein Pike, Dresher, Pennsylvania, 19025; a son and daughter; her parents; and a brother and sister.

Doreen Fitzgerald is information officer at the University of Alaska, Fairbanks.

Robert Schultz is executive assistant to the vice-commander of the Naval Material Command in Washington, D.C.

1963
Diana Smith Curtis is a law student in Miami.

Alan and Elaine Gott Hutchcroft live in Rockford, Illinois, where Alan has been promoted to professor of chemistry at Rockford College. He is also chairman of the department. In the 1981 Rockford Fourth of July Marathon, he ran a 2:47:28 marathon, good for ninth place overall and first in his age group.

Tom Lambert has been elected treasurer of the board of the Kalamazoo Art Center and re-elected board president of New Vic Theatricals, Inc. of Kalamazoo.

Leo Rasmussen has been elected to his third term as mayor of Nome, Alaska. He is a writer and founding director of the Bering Straight's weekly newspaper in Nome. He was the subject of a feature article in the October 17, 1981, Kalamazoo Gazette.

Gold Smith is a quality assurance manager for Computer Sciences Corporation in Silver Spring, Maryland.

1964
Susan Broemel Best owns her own photographic business in Virginia Beach, Virginia, called "best impressions."

Margaret Nichols Harrington is an anesthesiologist at the Children's Hospital in San Francisco.

Dawn Larson Atkinson is a part-time educational consultant for the Lewis Cass, Michigan, school district. She serves the needs of gifted and talented children.

After 13 years in Athens, Greece, Jack and Margaret Wheeler Sadoway have moved to Lenox, Massachusetts. Margaret and her sister own and manage Clearwater Natural Foods.

Juliette Rydberg is a Spanish teacher in Kaukauna Junior and Senior High Schools in Wisconsin.

Ward A. Riley, Jr. is research assistant professor of neurology at the Bowman Gray School of Medicine of Wake Forest University. He is the principal investigator on two recently awarded grants from the National Institutes of Health entitled "Optical Diffraction Analysis of Pulsed Ultrasound" and "In-Vivo Assessment of Pediatric Atherosclerosis."

Mara Abolins received her master's degree in August, 1981, from Western Michigan University.
1965

Carol White Averill has been named director of psychology at Bat­tle Creek Sanitarium Hospital. Her husband is Lloyd J. Averill, former Kalamazoo College vice-president. He has written a chapter for the book Women and Community Colleges, published last year.

Alan F. Heath has been promoted to vice-president of Squirt and Company, Holland, Michigan. He continues to serve as secretary and general counsel of the company, and as chairman of the board of Refre­Mex S.A. de C.V., which is Squirt’s affiliate in Mexico City.

Katherine DePree Miller is an admin­istrator for Easter Seals in East Lansing.

Michael Morden teaches at vari­ous Detroit-area colleges, including Wayne State, Oakland University, and the University of Michigan at Dearborn. He and his wife, Peggy Ryan, have a son, Andrew, age ten, and a foster daughter, Karyn, age 13.

Susan Dasher is practicing law in Austin, Texas, as an expert in federal courts and is counseling and speaking on issues of sex discrimination in employment and the available legal remedies.

Dehn E. and M. Jan Rowe (’68)

Solomon live in Laporte, Colorado, where Dehn was recently promoted to program manager for Environment­mental Research and Technology, Inc. He works in the mining industry in the Rocky Mountain states on environmental impact statements for gold, cobalt, and molybdenum mines.

John K. Ditberio is staff psycholo­gist at the University of Illinois Medical Center in Chicago. He is a member of the national board of directors for the Association of Psychologi­cal Type, a professional organization committed to con­structive uses of personality differ­ences in teaching, learning, counseling, business, industry, and the health professions. He lives in Oak Park with his wife, Lisa, and two-you­r-old twin daughters.

1966

Kathy B. Loomis is a staff assistant with Southern New England Bell. She lives in Guilford, Connecticut.

William Barrett has purchased the Argus-Champion newspaper in Newport, New Hampshire. He now owns five newspapers in New Eng­land. He lives in Dover, Massachus­etts, with his wife, Ingrid, and three children — Christina, six; Elizabeth, four; and Jonathan, two.

Sharon Young Cherry is an as­sistant professor of Spanish at the University of South Carolina at Spartanburg. She and her husband have two daughters — Gwendoly­n, born in 1979, and Madeleine, born in 1981.

Joanne Dahlk Cory is a social worker in Madison, Wisconsin. She is studying for her PhD.

David E. Kyvig teaches American History at the University of Akron.

Richard and Elizabeth Neubert Myers live in Nyack, New York, with their three daughters. Richard is pas­tor of the First Presbyterian Church in Nyack, and at the recent biennial con­vention of the American Baptist Churches, U.S.A., he was elected president of the Baptist Peace Fel­lowship. Beth teaches private piano lessons, and muscular dystrophy classes at a Montessori school.

Edward and Ellen Ann Blanford Teghtmeier moved from Cherokee, Illinois, to Council Grove, Kansas, in 1980. She enjoys staying at home, gardening, and fixing up the house. They have two daughters, Lori, age 13, and Suzanne, age 11.

Hugh White, a commander in the United States Naval Reserve, has completed his first of four years under a special tour of active duty in San Diego, California. He com­mutes home regularly to Corvallis, Oregon, where he still serves as manager partner of an investment partnership and as president of Mary's Peak Aviation, an aviation service company with operations at two airports.

M. Mercedes Cardenas Stein­bauer teaches Spanish and French at Mayo High School in Rochester, Minnesota. She received her MS in counseling education from Winona State University in 1980. She has two children — Lori, 14, and Paul, eight.

Mike and Katherine Carr (’69)

Ham live in Raleigh, North Carolina, where he is director of corporate planning for Durham Life Insurance Company. They have a two-year-old son, Frank, whom they adopted in February, 1980.

1967

Lyle and Ellen Worges (’69)

Anderson have moved to Maryland, where he has started Washington operations for Aquideck Data Corporation. Ellen is pursu­ing a PhD in chemistry at the University of Maryland.

Sarah Manson Bikfalvy is a child and family therapist at Ottawa County Community Mental Health in Grand Haven, Michigan. She has two daughters — Andrea, ten, and Laura, eight.

Frank and Joan McClure Guziec moved last year from Bedford, Mas­sachusetts, to Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Gail French Hubbard and hus­band Robert live in Ann Arbor, where she teaches French at Huron High School. They have a son, Paul, born in February, 1980, and are expect­ing a second child in April.

Kirk Oberfeld and Linda E. Moore were married October 1, 1981, in Baltimore City, Maryland. They reside in Baltimore.

Linda Rodd teaches psychology at Michigan State University and is a community music teacher at the University of Michigan.

Susan Risser Treinin is in charge of student loans and employment at the University of Minnesota.

Robert L. Kollen is a chemist, physicist, and philosophy teacher at Southfield, Michigan, High School.

Barbara Paxson gave a lecture at Kalamazoo College last summer enti­ting "African Art: Overview and Underwater." as part of the African Studies summer program. She has illustrated two major books and presented numerous exhibits in the U.S. and in Sierra Leone. She has documented sacred artifacts in Sierra Leone and Liberia in con­junction with the University of London.

Betsy Cushman Rohwer is per­sonnel manager for Jacobson’s in Dearborn, Michigan.

1968

Linda R. Baker received her master’s last year from Roosevelt University in Chicago in learning dis­abilities. She spent last summer as a volunteer in the Aribucita, Pue­bla, Mexico. She is now a learning dis­abilities therapist at Libertyville High School, Illinois.

Dennis Benson is an attorney in Cadillac, Michigan.

Richard C. Clark is an attorney in Escanaba, Michigan. He and his wife, Jo-An, have a six-year-old daughter.

Pamela Sawicki Czerny is head of advertising and promotion and is international projects coordinator for Amitox Corporation near Atlanta, Georgia. She is working on her dissertation for a PhD in English from the University of Georgia.

Vernie Davis is assistant professor of anthropology at Goucher College, Towson, Maryland.

Terry Ann Dennis is case manager for the family support program of the Tri-County (Michigan) Community Mental Health Programs for the Retarded.

David K. Jackson is an instructor at the Duke University Graduate School of Nursing and is also a doc­toral candidate in sociology at Duke.

Cheryl Kraft teaches English as a second language at the University of Southern California.

Douglas and Janice “Bonnie” Koltko Mernitz and their two daughters, Heather and Whitney, live in Haslett, Michigan. Janice earned her MBA in accounting from MSU last year and has accepted a position as internal auditor with the Bank of Lansing. Doug is director of the Lansing office of housing operations for the Michigan State Housing De­velopment Authority.

Michael Mortaugh finished a two­year appointment last fall as visiting associate at the Population Council in New York. He is now serving a three-year appointment as senior project econom­ist in a World Bank project in the Ministry of Planning, Loms, Togo.

John Trump has accepted the position of tennis director of the Bath and Racquet Club, Sarasota, Florida. He and his wife, Jane, and children Daniel and Michelle reside at 200 Wood Street, Sarasota, 33577.

Barbara Kell Ruth lives in San Diego, where she writes poetry.

Dail Willoughby played the title role in Strider, a Kalamazoo College musical, in a holiday production last summer.

John T. Collins, Jr., a surgeon at Borgess Medical Center in Kalamazoo, last summer saved a man’s right arm which had been crushed in an auto accident. This surgical feat was reported in the July 21, 1981, Kala­mazoo Gazette. John formerly prac­ticed at Walter Reed Army Medical Center and also treated wounded soldiers returning to Hawaii from Vietnam.

Ann Ryan Matzel is a second-year law student in Brookline, Massachusetts.

W. Baird and Renee Labbe Black­stone live in Surrey, British Columbia, where he is editor of a newspaper.

Claudia Daub Crawford is assist­ant principal at Roaring Brook School in Chappagula, New York.

Jamie Hall Phillips is postmaster in West Truckee, California.

Arthur and Molly Conklin Turner announce the birth of a son, Geoff­rey, on December 31, 1980. Molly is minister at Vermillion­ and Gresham United Methodist Churches in Michigan.

Linda Allen Ross is chairman of the social studies department at Jef­ferson County Adult High School, Colorado. She has a six-year-old daughter, Jennifer.

1969

M. Kay Boucher David is a librar­ian with Schwabe, Williamson, Wyatt, Moore, and Roberts in Port­land, Oregon.

John and Janet Williams (’70) Fer­rell announce the birth of a son, Ty­ler, June 14, 1981. Their first son, Brian, is 3 1/2 years old. They live in Gaithersburg, Maryland.

Frank and Elizabeth Lindermann Malone live in Detroit’s Indian Vil­lage, a neighborhood on the National Register of Historic Places. They have two children, Andrew, three, and Ellen, one.

Cynthia Conrad Williams is a teacher in Indianapolis.

Eugene Fickert Ross is a college professor at Trumbull, Connecticut.

Sharon E. Hunt is office manager for Connection Unlimited Travel in Oakland, California.

L. Kurt and Martha Campbell Adamson recently moved to the Boston area, where Kurt is now as­sociate director of the Pappas Law Library at Boston University. Martha is head librarian at the Raytheon Corporate Research Division Library in Wal­lallam.

Linden C. and Virginia Heimbuch
Smith announce the birth of a son, Jeffrey, on April 25, 1981.

Martha Groulx Bond received her master's degree last year from Western Michigan University.

Lynn and Susan Tait ('71) Lasswell live in Santa Ana, California, with their two daughters, Megan, age three, and Erin, ten months. Lynn is an optometrist and Susan is a career counselor at California State University at Fullerton.

1970

Robert D. Heailing is in his third and final year as pediatrics resident at Massachusetts General Hospital in Chicago.

Lucinda S. Hargrave is a customer engineer at Hewlett-Packard in Farmington, Michigan. She also teaches electronics at Oakland Community College.

Susan Hedrick is a community health associate in the department of community health science at Michigan State University.

Margaret White Reich is an academic and pre-med advisor at the State University of New York at Albany.

Kate B. Showers received her Ph.D. in agronomy last fall and has been awarded a post-doctoral fellowship by the Dutch government to work at the International Agricultural Centre in Wageningen, The Netherlands. She is working with Dr. C. T. de Witt at The Centre for World Food Problems. She plans to take a bicycle tour through the rest of Europe, lasting four months or "until my money runs out and the weather turns foul."

Jean Broadwell and Paul O. White were married May 24, 1981, in Philadelphia. Jean is a senior underwriter with State Farm Insurance. They live in Upper Darby, Pennsylvania.

Henry Williams has been promoted to vice-president of the commercial banking division of Industrial State Bank and Trust Company, Kalamaoo.

Paul and Louis Piegolis ('71) Fridich announce the birth of a daughter, Carol Lynn, on September 29, 1981, in Laingsburg, Michigan. They have two other daughters — Teresa, age seven, and Janet, age two.

1971

David G. Campbell is a PhD candidate at Johns Hopkins University. His wife, Lynne Stockinger, is a graduate student.

Crosby announce the birth of their second son, Kevin, November 16, 1980. Their first son, David, is four years old. They live in Rockford, Michigan.

Doug and Deborah Foote Faulkner announce the birth of a daughter, Joen, born in January, 1980. They live in Lansdale, Pennsylvania, where Doug is a computer programmer for William M. Wilson and Sons and Deborah is a government contracts librarian and archivist at Montgomery County Community College.

David and Harriet Porter Halbig announce the birth of a daughter, Marjorie, on June 9, 1980. They live in Arlington, Virginia.

Virginia L. Jones is director of the computer center at Greenwich Country Day School in Greenwich, Connecticut, and is also doing free-lance programming. She completed her fourth New York City Marathon last fall.

Rebecca Roach Oshway is a lawyer in Silver Spring, Maryland.

Peter and Joanne Robbins Sloane live in Seattle. Peter graduated from the University of Illinois College of Law in 1979, and Joanne from the same school in 1980. Peter practices labor law with the firm of Perkins, Coie, Stone, Olsen, and Williams. Joanne practices law with the firm of Davis, Wright, Todd, Riese, and Jones. They write, "We would love to hear from our classmates. We have a large home for guests — let us know if you are in the beautiful Pacific northwest."

Art and Kathy Hall Ledesma announce the birth of a son, Brendan, on May 28, 1981. They have two daughters, Michaela, four, and Alyssa, two. Kathy works part-time as an adoption counselor for the Washington Association of Christian Adoptive Parents.

John R. Steward lives in Yonkers, New York, where he is assistant controller for the National Audubon Society.

Lisa T. Jankowski, a captain in the U.S. Army, ended a three-year assignment with the Third Armored Division in Frankfurt, West Germany, in June, 1981. She taught a master's program in Spanish with Middlebury College in Middlebury, Vermont, and Madrid, Spain. When she completes her MA in August, 1982, she will report to the U.S. Military Academy in West Point for duty as a language officer. After previous assignments since August, 1971, she has included Fort McClellan, Alabama; Fort Clayton, Panama; and Fort Belvoir, Virginia. Lisa and Major Allan A. Toomey were married at Fort Belvoir in July, 1975.

James B. Richards is an insurance agent with Sitken's Insurance Company in Wyandotte, Michigan.

Bill and Carolyn Welti Hooffe live in Livonia, Michigan. They have two sons — Christopher, age 3½, and Erik, 15 months.

Peter and Carolyn Hubert Gibson live in Hamden, Connecticut, where Pete is the controller for Quinnipiac College and Carolyn is at home with their three-year-old daughter, Brenda.

Susan Vogt is pastor of the First Congregational Church of South Windham, Connecticut.

Tom Fay received an MS degree in computer science from San Jose State University in 1980. He is a software engineer for Hewlett Packard, Fort Collins, Colorado.

Linda Wilhelm works in the Bausch and Lomb Softlens International Division in Rochester, New York.

Marc Kamerling has been named "engineering manager" of the newly-created display products division of Optical Coating Laboratory, Inc. They provide products and services to a wide variety of visual display terminal manufacturers. He lives in Santa Rosa, California.

Bob Winship is a graduate student in the MBA program at the University of Washington. He has a master's degree in Chinese area studies from the university.

Brad Thompson is chief administrative resident in general surgery at the University of Pittsburgh. In 1982, he plans to enter private practice in Beaver, Pennsylvania.

Greg and Doris Gay Perkins Stanley announce the birth of a daughter, Karen, on April 16, 1981. Their son Michael is now 3½ years old. Greg is employed by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, and Company in Littleton, Colorado.

Tom and Karen Heuston Nesler announce the birth of a daughter, Laura, on August 24, 1980. They live in Buena Vista, Colorado. Karen is a part-time dietitian consultant for the Area Agency on Aging.

James D. Swope is an advanced intern in art conservation specializing in paintings at the Fogg Art Museum at Harvard University.

Barbara L. Waszczak and Arthur P. Ensroth were married September 5, 1981, in Bethesda, Maryland. She is senior staff fellow with the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke.

Shawn P. Grosskopf teaches economics at Southern Illinois University.

Martha C. Byrnes was named acting director of the Whittier College School of Law Library in July, 1981.

Leigh Hunt and David Greenshaw were married. She is on leave from graduate law study at Columbia National Life Insurance. He is product services director for the reinsurance division's western, southwestern, and international divisions.

Deborah W. DeBruyn was a part of the Washington Women's Arts Center "Thank You, Thank You" show last October for dedicated members who volunteered time to center activities. Two of her works from her current series, "The Canadian Obsession Series," were shown. She is employed by Middle East Media Corporation and lives in Alexandria, Virginia.

Ruth Darling Fischer lives in Denver, where she works in banking and is a part-time country singer.

Debra J. Gackle is a trust investment officer for First Bank Minneapolis. She is responsible for managing various trust customer investment portfolios.

Christopher Gardner received his law degree last summer from DePaul University.

John C. Lilly and Barbara Hodkins announce the birth of their third child, Benjamin, on May 13, 1981. John is employed by Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan and Barbara by the state of Ohio. They live in Columbus.

Mary Ann Kastead Krause was recently accepted into the American Institute of Certified Planners, a professional organization for urban and regional planners. She lives in Oxnard, California.

Cathleen E. Meyers is a teacher of the hearing impaired in Okinawa, Japan.

Tom Robertson is a student at the Franklin Pierce Law Center in Concord, New Hampshire.

Greg and Doris Gay Perkins Stanley announce the birth of a daughter, Karen, on April 16, 1981. Their son Michael is now 3½ years old. Greg is employed by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, and Company in Littleton, Colorado.

Tom and Karen Heuston Nesler announce the birth of a daughter, Laura, on August 24, 1980. They live in Buena Vista, Colorado. Karen is a part-time dietitian consultant for the Area Agency on Aging.

James D. Swope is an advanced intern in art conservation specializing in paintings at the Fogg Art Museum at Harvard University.

Barbara L. Waszczak and Arthur P. Ensroth were married September 5, 1981, in Bethesda, Maryland. She is senior staff fellow with the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke.

Shawn P. Grosskopf teaches economics at Southern Illinois University.

Martha C. Byrnes was named acting director of the Whittier College School of Law Library in July, 1981.

Leigh Hunt and David Greenshaw were married. She is on leave from graduate law study at Columbia National Life Insurance. He is product services director for the reinsurance division's western, southwestern, and international divisions.

Deborah W. DeBruyn was a part of the Washington Women's Arts Center "Thank You, Thank You" show last October for dedicated members who volunteered time to center activities. Two of her works from her current series, "The Canadian Obsession Series," were shown. She is employed by Middle East Media Corporation and lives in Alexandria, Virginia.

Ruth Darling Fischer lives in Denver, where she works in banking and is a part-time country singer.

Debra J. Gackle is a trust investment officer for First Bank Minneapolis. She is responsible for managing various trust customer investment portfolios.

Christopher Gardner received his law degree last summer from DePaul University.

John C. Lilly and Barbara Hodkins announce the birth of their third child, Benjamin, on May 13, 1981. John is employed by Buckeye Federal Savings and Loan and Barbara by the state of Ohio. They live in Columbus.

Mary Ann Kastead Krause was recently accepted into the American Institute of Certified Planners, a professional organization for urban and regional planners. She lives in Oxnard, California.

Cathleen E. Meyers is a teacher of the hearing impaired in Okinawa, Japan.

Tom Robertson is a student at the Franklin Pierce Law Center in Concord, New Hampshire.

Greg and Doris Gay Perkins Stanley announce the birth of a daughter, Karen, on April 16, 1981. Their son Michael is now 3½ years old. Greg is employed by Peat, Marwick, Mitchell, and Company in Littleton, Colorado.

Tom and Karen Heuston Nesler announce the birth of a daughter, Laura, on August 24, 1980. They live in Buena Vista, Colorado. Karen is a part-time dietitian consultant for the Area Agency on Aging.

James D. Swope is an advanced intern in art conservation specializing in paintings at the Fogg Art Museum at Harvard University.

Barbara L. Waszczak and Arthur P. Ensroth were married September 5, 1981, in Bethesda, Maryland. She is senior staff fellow with the National Institute of Neurological and Communicative Disorders and Stroke.

Shawn P. Grosskopf teaches economics at Southern Illinois University.

Martha C. Byrnes was named acting director of the Whittier College School of Law Library in July, 1981.

Leigh Hunt and David Greenshaw were married. She is on leave from graduate law study at Columbia National Life Insurance. He is product services director for the reinsurance division's western, southwestern, and international divisions.
1974
Ronald Cook received his MBA from the University of Michigan in 1980.

Patrick Cunningham is assistant basketball coach at Illinois State University.

Robertha Richter Gilman is assistant dean of Bloomfield University School of Social Work and Recreation, Bloomfield, Michigan.

Paul Guenette is an artist, living and working in Soukchott, Mauritania, where Paul is administrator of the USAID-financed Guidimaka Integrated Rural Development Project.

Steve and Lynn Hutchinson Hennessy live in Cincinnati, where Steve is a teacher at Lockland Middle School, responsible for the reading lab and coordinating the school's reading program. Steve still plays music in his free time. Lynn is director of special children's programs for Camp Fire, Inc. They have one son, Sean, born July 22, 1979.

Carol N. Kahler is a systems analyst for the Dart Corporation in Rochester, Michigan.

Kay Starbuck Lukins lives in Vicksburg, Michigan. She works half-time as education assistant of the Portage United Methodist Church. She is also a volunteer in two major programming roles for the church — chairperson of the Council on Ministries for southwestern Michigan and coordinator of children's ministries for one-half of the state.

Lynn Fenski Pike lives in Arvada, Colorado, where she is managing the graphic arts department in advertising and print material for STC, a Fortune 500 company.

Sandra Schurgin is a senior consultant for Reid, Merrill, Brunson, and Associates, an industrial psychological consulting/testing firm in Denver. She performs management/executive evaluations, develops research, and validity studies for psychological tests.

Susan Kay Weber is studying electrical engineering at Cleveland State University and works part-time as an RN in the university hospital emergency room.

Carolyn Sevin and Hans Barnikol were married in Germany in July and in Canada August 15, 1981. She teaches business and technical English at the Augsburg Gymnasium, West Germany.

Thomas McNeil is a reporter for The Wall Street Journal.

Christine A. Dudley-Marr is a speech and language therapist at Littleton Public Schools in Colorado.

Richard M. Matthews is a partner in the law firm of Swift and Matthews in Atlanta.

Geoffrey and Susan Fletcher ('73) Wright live in Baltimore. Geoffrey has been appointed director of research and development at the Computer Music Studio of the Peabody Institute of Johns Hopkins University. Susan performed roles with the Annapolis Opera Company and the Baltimore Opera Company during the 1980-81 season and was a finalist in the vocal competition sponsored by the Lansing Symphony.

Elizabeth Witt-Goodyn and husband Bill announce the birth of their second son, Thomas, on October 6, 1981. Their older son, Casey, is now 2½ years old. They live in Westport, Connecticut, where Liz title searches historic homes and does genealogical research for the Westport Historical Society.

1975
Steven Boyak and Jo Ann Peramo were married March 21, 1980, and live in Redford, Michigan. Steve is employed by Burroughs Corporation.

Stephen and Penelope Bruson-Loughhead received their master's degree in social work from Smith College in 1979 and 1980, respectively. Steve is a psychotherapist with a private group and treats children and in-patient adolescents in Houston. Penny is a social worker for blind infants and their parents in the public school system. They are happily anticipating the birth of their first child in April. They welcome any "K" alumni and friends visiting Houston.

Deborah L. Doolittle and Peter Jonathan Molson were married July 4, 1981. They live in London, where Deborah is a corporate loan officer at Bank of Montreal.

Jeffrey and Susan Sallee Holt live in Rochester, New York, where Jeffrey is a resident in pathology at Strong Memorial Hospital of the University of Rochester. Susan is program coordinator for Arts for Greater Rochester (AGR). She guides AGR's workshops, grants information, and Volunteer Lawyers for the Arts, which provides free legal assistance to eligible artists.

Alfred and Kathy Eberle Gross announce the birth of their son, Michael, on September 14, 1981, in Richmond, Virginia. They also have a daughter, Genevieve. Kathy is an analytical chemist working for the state of Virginia in the Pesticide Residue Laboratory.

Michael Hartz is an associate in the law firm of Katten, Muchin, Zavis, Pearl, and Galler in Oak Park, Illinois. He has published two articles: one in the Journal of Corporate Taxation and another in Taxes — The Tax Magazine.

Mark Jackson's sports exploits were mentioned in a column by Jack Moss in the August 18, 1981, Kalama­ zoo Gazette.

James Edward Jacobs has opened a consulting/testing firm in Vicksburg, Michigan. He is also a volunteer in the emergency room.

Robert and Linda Leithauser Milne live in Lapeer, Michigan, where she is a professional ratmge piano player.

David Mulder is employed by Powell Book Store in Chicago.

Sandra Bencheson's graphic design work is represented in the Annual of the Art Director's Club of New York. The show, representing the best work selected from among more than 13,000 entries, is touring the U.S., Europe, Asia, and mainland China. The show is also reproduced in hardcover by Hast­ ton House. Dan is art director of the Annual of the Art Directors Club of Chicago.

1976
Eugene Bissell has been appointed treasurer of a 30-person consulting firm in Washington, D.C.

Sue Bremner received her MA in English as a second language from Ohio State in June, 1981. She now teaches English in China.

Kirk and Wendy Irish Bruno live in Three Rivers, Michigan. Wendy teaches science at Kalamazoo Hackett High School. Kirk is a financial analyst for General Motors. Their son, Corey, is a year old.

Martha Duersen is working on her MA in vocal pedagogy at Ohio State.

Vance L. Kincaid II and his wife, Marcia, announce the birth of a son, John Edward Kincaid III, on July 7, 1981. They live in Gobles, Michigan.

Kevin J. Kleinsmith has been appointed funds management officer at Detroit Bank & Trust. He is a member of the Bond Club of Detroit and the Detroit Association of Business Economists.

Steven R. Palmer and Darcy J. Delger were married September 12, 1981, in Kalamazoo.

Ralph Rovner is working on his Ph.D. at the University of Minnesota and is employed at the Ramsey County Mental Health Clinic.

Joseph M. Thomson is an attorney in Toledo, Ohio.

Dawn and James Farnsworth announce the birth of a daughter, Samantha Elizabeth, on August 14, 1981. They live in Plainwell, Michigan.

Victoria Dudley McDonnell is a planner for the Leelanau County Commission in Traverse City, Michigan.

Vicki and James E. Kehoe announce the birth of a daughter.
Kari, on June 29, 1981. They live in Galesburg, Michigan.

Susan L. Dobrich has joined the Cass County, Michigan, prosecutor's office as an assistant prosecutor.

John J. Fishel is a maintenance supervisor in Madison, Wisconsin.

James Schwartz went on a tour by bicycle last summer of the Rocky Mountains from Canada to the southern United States.

David and Dee Minor ("77) Ban live in St. Louis, Missouri. David is a resident in internal medicine at the Jewish Hospital (Washington University Medical Center). Dee teaches fourth grade in Kirkwood.

Gail Altenburg will finish her bachelor's degree at Michigan State University in June. She has two children, Fiona, 5/2, and Katharine, three.

Craig Boyak and his wife, Angela Eley ("77), live in Holland, Michigan.

Craig is a structural engineer for Bechtel Corporation. Angela teaches French at Hope College.

Colleen Aalsburg Wiessner received an MPS in education from the State University of New York in New Paltz and is working on an MDiv degree at New Brunswick-New York Theological Seminary in New York City. She and her husband share a team ministry at the Kerhonkson, New York, Federated Church.

Cynthia Schaefer and James L. Gillard III were married on October 17, 1981. Cynthia is a third-year law student at Notre Dame, director of a law clinic, and Berrien County prosecutor intern. She will work for a law firm in Elkhart, Indiana, after her graduation.

Brian and Karen Hunter Anderson live in Louisville, Kentucky.

Karen is working on a PhD in English composition and rhetoric at the University of Louisville and publishing a textbook, Missing Person. Brian is a university fellow in biology at the University of Louisville.

Susan Gierak and Roger Gienapp were married on May 23, 1981. Susan is a legal secretary and Roger is an architect. They live in Southfield.

David Anderson has accepted a new position with John Deere Insurance Company in Moline, Illinois.

Jim Ketcham is assistant personnel director of the National Opinion Research Center in Chicago. He will receive a master of divinity degree from Chicago Theological Seminary in the spring.

Joseph M. Thomson and Constance Shemos were married on December 27, 1981. He is an attorney with the firm of DeNune and Bayford in Toledo, Ohio.

Sandra Morseth is a graduate student in psychology at Washington State University.

George N. Case, Jr. is the owner of Allegro Music stores in Kalamazoo and Grand Rapids and is studio manager for Stannard's Music. He served as the chairman of the judges for the 1981 Michigan Miss Teen Pageant.

1977

Helen Armstrong received her master's in cultural anthropology from the University of Wisconsin at Madison in May, 1981. She now works for a private consulting firm in Anchorage, Alaska, doing research on the importance of bowhead whaling in the Eskimo villages. She and Charlie Barnwell were married October 17, 1981.

Barbara A. Brundage received her MD from Wayne State in June, 1981, and is now a pediatrics resident at Cincinnati's Children's Hospital in Philadelphia.

Sarah B. Forsythe received her MS in biostatistics from UCLA in June, 1981. She now works at the Cleveland Clinic Foundation as a statistical consultant in biomedial research.

Kathryn L. Fox works in sales and marketing for a trade publication with a nationwide circulation of 40,000 — Training, the Magazine of Human Resources Development.

Rebecca Graham is a law student in San Diego.

Scott Graham is a staff attorney in the Office of the State Appellate Defender in Chicago.

Joseph P. Hunstad is a resident in plastic surgery at Butterworth Hospital in Grand Rapids.

Jere Brooks Hunter is a marketing representative for IBM in Southfield, Michigan.

Michael Klaeren is an attorney in Jackson, Michigan.

Stephen D. Langeland and Deborah L. Colvin were married October 9, 1981, in Stetson Chapel at Kalamazoo College. He is an attorney with the firm of Walsh and Miller of Kalamazoo.

Betsy Hancock and Zachary H. Levine were married September 12, 1981, in Ann Arbor. Last fall she received her master's in program evaluation and applied social research from Hahnemann Medical College in Philadelphia.

Michael and Elizabeth Belser Loezel both teach at North Huron Schools in Kinde, Michigan. Michael teaches sixth grade and coaches varsity football. Elizabeth is Title I program coordinator and teaches remedial math at the middle school.

Mark MacKenzie is a PhD candidate in forest ecology at Knoxville, Tennessee.

Bonnie J. Miller and Mark McIner-of Conklin and Adler, Ltd. Linda teaches mathematics and coaches cross country and track at Lyons Township High School in La Grange, Illinois.

Pamela E. Simpson works with the city of Chicago and the state of Illinois film office to promote film production.

Tim Chapman and Cindy Froeber-Chapan ('79) both work as dorm directors at the Boston Conservatory of Music, where they rehabilitate abandoned buildings. Cindy also works part-time at a bookstore, and Tim works with a magazine called Growing Without Schooling, a magazine for parents who want to educate their children at home. Tim also works part-time with mentally retarded young adults.

Martin S. Sostoi received his law degree from the University of Toledo in June, 1981. He also was editor of the university's law review, and his article, "The Sixth Circuit Spurms Interboro and the Doctrine of Constructive Concerted Activity," was published in the review.

Neil W. Tollas and Janet Moore have announced their engagement.

Wade A. Kapik received his master's degree last year from Western Michigan University.

Mary L. Russell is a legislative correspondent for Senator Edward Zorinsky of Nebraska. She is also involved in several community action programs in Washington, D.C.

Dale V. Shaller works at the Minnesota Energy Agency in St. Paul, and is completing his master's degree in public affairs at the University of Minnesota.

Michael A. Slocum has completed his MS in computer science at the University of California, Davis. He now works for Lawrence Livermore National Laboratory on control systems for a test facility for magnetic fusion and particle acceleration.

Christopher M. Wells has completed his studies at the University of Michigan Law School and has joined the firm of Goudstik & Brothers in New York City.

Andrew Yagle received his master's in electrical engineering from MIT in June of 1981. He is pursuing his PhD at MIT.

Jim and Patty Wottila ('80) Croom both received Fulbright scholarships for the 1981-82 academic year. Patty is studying economics and finance at the University of Cologne, West Germany, and Jim is studying comparative insolvency law at the University of Bonn.

Lela Noland and Andrew Baughman were married August 23, 1980. They live in Ann Arbor, where he is a PhD candidate in biostatistics at the University of Michigan. Lela received her MSW in policy and planning and works at the University of Michigan hospital.

John T. Hartman is a graduate student at the University of Chicago.

James S. Payson is a research physicist in Royal Oak, Michigan.

Gary M. Keene and Karen E. Kitchel ('79) are both nearing the end of their graduate studies at Claremont Graduate School, California. Gary has started full-time work as assistant professor at the United Methodist Church in Redlands while completing his master of divinity degree at Claremont. Karen is working full-time on her graduation show in paint/fiber structures for her MFA. She also completed a 1,000-mile bicycle tour of California last August in the company of James Schwartz ('76).

1979

Craig W. Sloan and Karla A. Stanley were married in a garden ceremony in Kalamazoo August 15, 1981. Craig is sales service coordinator for Fairfield Broadcasting in Lexington, Kentucky.

Steven D. Baker and Pamela Price were married August 29, 1981, in Stetson Chapel at Kalamazoo College. Included in the wedding party were Mary Seaburg King, Lisa Hug, Marty Ambrose, Marc Carson ('78), and Doug Steckel, performed by Tim Roberts and his wife Jill, Rollin Marquis ('80), and John Sullivan ('82). Steve and Pam now live in Minneapolis.

Mark Cadwallader is a chemist for MTDCO in Houston.

David R. Nelson is a student at the American Graduate School of International Management in Glendale, Arizona.

Elizabeth Cohen is activities coordinator for an adolescent rehabilitation program in Boston.

Chris DeRose is special assistant to William Faust, the majority leader of the Michigan Senate.

Robert L. Fregoli and Lori A. Rubin were married in October, 1981. He is a sales manager for Preller and Gamble in Birmingham, Michigan.

Cindy Pavlinac is a graduate student in the School of Consciousness Studies at John F. Kennedy University in San Francisco. She also exhibits photography, teaches violin, and is active in several Bay area space activist organizations.

David Harris and Jean McGarrie were married September 24, 1981, in Kalamazoo. David is a professional musician in Kalamazoo.

Ryutaro and Toshiko Okamoto Hatanaka announce the birth of a son on September 6, 1981. They have a daughter, Sayaka, a year and a half old. They recently moved to Buenos Aires.

Dawn L. Potter and Michael K. Williams were married October 17, 1981. They live in Toledo, Ohio.

Douglas J. Rosenthal is a second-year doctoral student in industrial psychology at Colorado State University.

Richard E. Sewell is head economist in charge of the research section of the planning department for the municipality of Anchorage, Alaska.

He plans to enter law school sometime in the future.

Bill Spencer and Cam Hicks recently returned to the University of Michigan medical and architectural schools, respectively, after a one-year leave of absence playing music as an acoustic guitar duo. Their travels took them from Kalamazoo to California, where they visited Cindy and LaMar Hill. LaMar has completed his master's in organic chemistry at UCLA.

Lyne Steinmoff and Gil Chesbro were married August 15, 1981, in East Lansing, where both are graduate students in English at Michigan State University.

Mary Sweeney is an art administrator for the Dia Art Foundation in New York City.

Leon Waskin, Jr. is a research assistant at the American embassy in Kinshasa, Zaire.

Mark Petticord is pursuing his master's in language and international trade at Eastern Michigan University. He also works for the Center of Educational Resources at Eastern.

Thomas Anan and Ruth McLeister are returning to California last year and now live in Detroit.

Tim Reimink received his master's of management last June from Northwestern University. He is currently a management trainee with Bank One Corporation.

Nancy K. Sherman received her master's degree last year from Western Michigan University.

1980

Constance Moagher Cole is a flight attendant for American Airlines. She lives in Ann Arbor.

Richard E. Dyer and Pamela L. Siebert were married August 1, 1981. Included in the wedding party were Mark Salasky, Tom Runville ('81), Leslie Siebert ('83), and Susan Siebert ('85). Rick is assistant manager of Old Kent Bank in Grand Rapids. Pam is employed with the accounting firm of Arthur Anderson in Grand Rapids.

Nancy L. Folk and Michael R. Howard were married August 21, 1981, in St. Joseph, Michigan. Nancy is collateral and documentation controller at Industrial State Bank, Kalamazoo.

Brad Smith and Julie Fudge were married October 3, 1981. Brad is an economic/commercial officer for the U.S. Foreign Service. They are stationed in Guayaquil, Ecuador. Julie was employed during 1981 as a research technician at the biological station at Gull Lake.

Amy B. Garber is an artist and writer with J & B Advertising in Southfield, Michigan, which specializes in television commercials. She is also a volunteer copyPEND at the Kalamazoo Meteor Times and co-producer of Radios in Motion on WDET, 101.9 FM, on Thursday nights from 10 p.m. to midnight.

Keith Haigh and Melinda Russell-Haight live in Gunnison, Colorado, where she is a high school German/ Spanish teacher and he drives a school bus part-time.

DeAnn and Andrew Koestner announce the birth of a son last May. He has electric engineering last December from Iowa State.

Susan Gale Slavin is studying for her master's in international business in Columbia, South Carolina.

DiAnne Spaulding is a research assistant at Wayne State University Medical School.

Don Nouchel's sporting achievements were mentioned in a column by Jack Moss in the August 18, 1981, Kalamazoo Gazette.

Sharon Winget returned this summer from a year of study at the University of Bonn, West Germany. She is now coordinator of the Spring Arbor College program at the State Prison of Southern Michigan.

Steven R. Nottoli and Christina Oran were married November 21, 1981, in Stetson Chapel at Kalamazoo College. Included in the wedding party were Kevin Curran, Tom Van Gessel, Chris Kellogg, Randy Hicks, and Tony Chaves ('82). Steve received his engineering degree last June from the University of Michigan. Tina is the volleyball coach and secretary in the public relations office at Kalamazoo College.

Stephen C. Petzold is a student at the American Graduate School of International Management in Glendale, Arizona.

Kelly L. Kent received a master's degree last year from Western Michigan University.

Laura H. Devanny received a master's degree last year from Western Michigan University.

1981

Ann Graham works in Upjohn Library at Kalamazoo College. She served as acting head of circulation last summer at the library.

Daniel R. Thompson and Patricia A. Streedon have announced their engagement. They plan a June 26 wedding. Dan is an associate account executive for Michigan Bell Telephone Company.

Tim Holmes is working on his PhD in applied math at the University of Pittsburgh.

Kimberly Hill is a Peace Corps volunteer in Zaire, Africa.

Cheryl L. DeCook works in the office of Michigan state senator Jack Wellborn. She handles the senator's scheduling, constituent communications, and special projects.

Phulbassai Mathura trains and exercises thoroughbred race horses.

1982

Laurie Lautenslager and Richard M. Atwater were married September 5, 1981, in Stetson Chapel. Laurie is employed by Saga Corporation. Richard is a senior in computer engineering at Kalamazoo College.
Join the celebration!

A growing number of students, faculty, administrators, trustees, alumni, and members of the Kalamazoo College community are becoming caught up in the important preparations for the College's Sesquicentennial. The exciting business of trying to capture the history, the accomplishments, and the momentum of 150 years is a task in which we will all be involved. More than merely the celebration of a 150th birthday (no mean accomplishment in itself), we believe this will serve as an occasion to recommit ourselves to the traditions of quality and distinctiveness which have become the international hallmarks of Kalamazoo College.

Events are being planned for major gatherings of alumni and friends on campus and across the country. There will be much about these events in subsequent issues of K Magazine and in the separate communications about the Sesquicentennial. I hope many will respond to the call of alma mater to be involved, and will celebrate the role the College has played in our individual lives and in the life of the nation.

The steering committee for the Sesquicentennial has adopted as the official emblem of that occasion a version of the seal of the College. The hand-held torch and the motto Lux Esto, "Let there be light," is a reminder to each of us that the impact of the College is indeed in our hands and that the world needs the light of education as never before.

This, then, is an early invitation to join in the spirit of the Sesquicentennial, to participate in its planning, and to celebrate this milestone. We believe the Sesquicentennial will launch Kalamazoo College into greater excellence and achievement in the years to come.

— George N. Rainsford
President, Kalamazoo College