Locust Street & Grace Ave., Inglewood, Calif.

"In Japan under the Baptist Board from 1914 to '41. Chose not to be ordained but did much church work. Helped in the hymnology of the Japanese. Pre-eminently a teacher, he was trusted by both faculty & students of Kanto Gakuin College, Yokohama even through the dark days just before Pearl Harbor. Led in reconstruction work when earthquake and fire destroyed much of the Yokohama area. He contributed much to interdenominational unity among Japanese Christians and promoted Japanese leadership. During war was a wise and helpful worker for the churches of America among the Japanese who had been removed from their homes along the Pacific Coast." Mark F.
